Defense Secretary Now in Middle Of Political Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the two months he has been secretary of defense, Thomas S. Gates Jr. has become the center of a political storm.

How much of the storm is generated by politics in a presidential election year and how much represents genuine concern over the administration's defense policies is hard to determine.

Gates was a predictable target for Democratic critics when he went before House and Senate committees to defend President Eisenhower's 41-billion-dollar defense budget for the fiscal year that starts July 1.

At first Gates appeared to be doing a good selling job. After he and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, described the defense picture to the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, Chairman George Mahon (D-Tex.) exclaimed:

"This is the most enthusiastic and rosey and reassuring presentation that we have ever had."

But Gates also ran into some doubters, among them Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), who aspire to the Democratic presidential nomination.

His critics asked how the outlook could be so rosy when the Soviets have or will have an admitted superiority in long-range missiles, and space exploration, larger armed forces, and more submarines — although not more atomic-powered subs.

Gates gave the critics a handle with which to pick up the issue: He said intelligence estimates of Soviet strength now are based on "what we believe he (Russia) probably will do, not what he is capable of doing."

To Symington, this represented juggling U.S. intelligence reports to give a more favorable picture. Gates and President Eisenhower have heatedly denied any juggling.

Gates brings to his tough job a background of wealth, Navy combat service in World War II, and experience as secretary of the Navy. He has a reputation for firmness and efficiency.

Born April 10, 1906 in Germantown, Pa., Gates comes from a family of Philadelphia investment bankers. In World War II he was decorated for combat duty in the Mediterranean and the Pacific and finished the war as a captain.

He was called to Washington in 1953 to be undersecretary of the Navy, and in 1957 moved up to the secretaryship.

He had resigned and was preparing to return to his life as a Philadelphia banker last year when Deputy Undersecretary of Defense Donald Quarles died.

Quarles had been slated to become secretary of defense upon the long-predicted resignation of Neil H. McElroy. Another experienced man was needed to take McElroy's place and Gates was persuaded to stay.

Gates is married to the former Millicent Ann Bregle.

The Gateses have three daughters and five grandchildren. An only son, Thomas S. Gates III, was killed in a fire at a Canadian ski lodge several years ago while he was a student at Harvard.

Woman Struck By Automobile On Era Road

Maye Snyder, 61, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was injured when struck by a car on Era Road about 22 miles northwest of here at 6:15 p. m. yesterday.

The woman pedestrian suffered a fractured right hip and abrasions and contusions. She was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C. H.

The auto was driven by Harry Rader, 61, Mt. Sterling. He was cited for leaving the scene of an accident.

Mrs. Snyder told Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey that she was walking along the road toward her home. She said the Rader car struck her from the rear, then continued on.

DEPUTY Felkey apprehended Rader following the accident.

The accused was cited into Circleville Municipal Court today. He was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 15 days in jail and had his driver's license suspended subject to compliance with the state financial responsibility law.

MacArthur Morale Is Reported High

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's morale, as he continues to improve at Lenox Hill Hospital, seems to be good.

His favorite arm chair was brought from his hotel apartment to his hospital room. A new bathrobe with the West Point varsity "A" also was brought to him.

Both reportedly pleased the 80-year-old general, who earned his letter in 1903 as a baseball player at the Academy.

MacArthur has shown steady improvement during treatment for an enlarged prostate gland. An Army spokesman said Tuesday the possibility of surgery will be considered in about 10 days.

Strongsville School Teacher Pay Slashed

CLEVELAND (AP)—A cut in teacher salaries starting next fall has been decreed by the Strongsville school board, which previously eliminated outside athletic events and made other drastic economy moves. The cuts for Strongsville's 64 teachers would total $27,500 for the year. A 5-mill school levy was defeated twice last year by Strongsville voters.

School Principal Kills Self After Slaying 2 Teachers

HARTFORD CITY, Ind. (AP)—School Principal Leonard O. Redden, outwardly a placid man, is dead—driven by inner anguish to kill two women teachers and then himself.

Redden kept his private fears hidden behind a quiet smile until Tuesday. Then, before their fifth-grade pupils, he killed Harriet Robson, 32, and Minnie McFerrin, 62. Finally, in the woods where he used to hunt, he fired his shotgun into his own chest.

Why?

His wife, Hazel, a school teacher and mother of their two children, thought she knew.

"He was just plain off his head," she said sorrowfully. "He thought he was the victim of gossip."

The gossip linked him with Miss Robson—but, his wife said, it was all in his own mind.

The 44-year-old educator had been principal of Hartford City's three grade schools for nearly nine years. A decorated combat veteran of World War II, twice wounded, he also was superintendent of the First Christian Church Sunday School.

Redden had agreed Monday to consult a psychiatrist in nearby Muncie. An appointment was made for Tuesday afternoon.

The worried Mrs. Redden hid every shotgun shell in the house. Then she sat up all Monday night, watching her husband in his fitful sleep.

Tuesday morning Redden arose and watched his wife drive off to consult the family doctor. Then he bought some shells for his 12-gauge shotgun, tidied up his desk and drove to the school.

Rapidly he strode into the first-floor classroom of Miss Robson. The 21 children stared at the shotgun.

"They aren't going to hang me," the principal shouted.

He fired a single shot, killing Miss Robson with a blast in the chest.

Judge Grins at Cousin, Hands Him $5 Fine

CINCINNATI (AP)—The name of Dr. J. K. Keefe was called in Traffic Court today.

As the doctor approached the bench to face Judge John W. Keefe, the judge remarked with a grin, "In case you haven't guessed it, this is my cousin. All my relatives save their business for me."

Then the judge fined his cousin $5 and costs on a plea of guilty to driving 48 miles an hour in a 35-mile-an-hour zone.

The cousins, incidentally, hadn't seen each other in five years.

Fairfield Board Tables School Controversy Moves

The Fairfield County Board of Education last night tabled petitions submitted by both factions involved in the Clearcreek Twp. Local School District controversy.

Petitions were filed by the Stoutsville Committee for Better Schools, requesting transfer to the Logan Elm School District. The Clearcreek Council for Fairfield Consolidation filed against transfer to Logan Elm.

The Clearcreek Council favors the recent move by the Fairfield Board which consolidated Amanda and Clearcreek Twps. into one school district.

The county board felt that the law, under which both petitions were submitted, was superseded by a revised statute passed by the 103rd General Assembly last year and went into effect January 1st.

THE LAW under which the petitions were filed was passed in 1957, according to Council members.

In the November, 1958 election, Clearcreek Twp. residents approved the Logan Elm consolidation by a vote of 338-226, but it was overruled by the 5th District Court of Appeals due to a technicality in the wording of the ballot. On Oct. 31, 1959, the Fairfield Board consolidated Amanda and Clearcreek school districts.

The Appeals Court decision has been appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court by the Committee's attorney, Joseph Asher, Columbus.

This seems to be the pro-Logan group's last hope, according to interested parties.

The Better Schools Committee said today that its petitions were signed by 453 persons in the portion of Clearcreek Twp. that submitted the transfer request. This portion excludes the Oakland area and a part of the township north of Stoutsville.

They maintain that not more than 20 eligible signatures were obtained upon the opposition's petition, while the Council claims approximately 50 persons actually signed.

THE COUNTY board made no comment to one committee member's question as to whether it still feels the Stoutsville people were

Syria Says Israel Patrol Is Shot Up

JERUSALEM (AP)—Syrians announced shooting resumed on the Syrian-Israeli frontier today.

A Damascus spokesman for the United Arab Republic's army said U.A.R. outposts had shot up a five-man Israeli patrol seen moving toward their positions and that Israeli machine gunners then opened fire.

The machine-gun fire possibly was intended to cover the operation of dragging away the killed or wounded members of the Israeli patrol, the spokesman said.

"The patrol was ambushed by our fire, and all its members fell down," he said.

At Tel Aviv, an Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said Syrian soldiers seemed to be clinging to fortified positions in the Tawafik area in defiance of a United Nations request that they withdraw.

Col. Raymond Pirlot, Belgian chairman of the Israeli-Syrian Mixed Armistice Commission, presented the request to the Syrians Tuesday, the spokesman said.

Israel had demanded that the U. N. "adopt all necessary measures to bring about the immediate removal of Syrian military units" from the area, in a demilitarized zone southeast of the Sea of Galilee where sporadic shooting broke out last Friday.

Premier David Ben-Gurion has warned that Israel would resort to force if the U. N. proved unable to clear out the Syrians.

From Syria, a partner with Egypt in the United Arab Republic, came a report that Syrian commanders expect an Israeli attack at any time. Col. Akram Deery of the U.A.R. declared Israeli troops are concentrating heavily south of the Sea of Galilee.

An uneasy cease-fire was observed along the frontier Tuesday but there were reports of scattered mortar and machine gun fire after nightfall.

A 5,000-man U.N. Emergency Force has been policing the Egyptian-Israeli frontier since Israel's invasion of Egypt in 1956.

The Israeli government has accused Syria of using Tawafik village as a military outpost and stationing soldiers there disguised as farmers. Israeli patrols raided the village over the weekend and destroyed most of the houses.

The Syrians claim Israel is using the charge as a pretext to block Arab farmers from exercising their rights to cultivate lands in the area.

Navy Pilot Safe As Jet Crashes

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — A Navy pilot parachuted to safety near here Tuesday night just before his jet trainer plowed into the earth and exploded.

The T-2-J crashed about 200 yards behind a gasoline station at Pleasantville, eight miles northeast of here. No one was hurt in the crash and explosion.

The pilot, Lt. (J.G.) Charles Robert Buffkin, 24, of Norfolk, Va., landed about a half-mile from the airplane. Buffkin said he was ferrying the plane to Norfolk. What went wrong was not determined immediately.

Gunrunning Trial Nearing Its End

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The trial of six men accused of conspiring to fly stolen guns to Cuban rebels neared an end in U.S. District Court today as defense attorneys continued to sum up their cases.

In a partial summation Tuesday attorney Vincent M. Casey argued that the government failed to prove its case against his clients—Joseph Giordano and Victor Carlucci, both of New Kensington, Pa., and Daniel Hanna of Arnold, Pa.

The other defendants are Stuart Sutor, Hialeah, Fla.; Norman Rothman and Joseph Merola, both of Miami Fla.

The government contends the defendants plotted to smuggle guns stolen from an armory at Canton, Ohio, to Cuban rebels in 1958.

PTA Heads Hear Bond Issue Plans

Presidents of the Circleville school system neighborhood Parent Teachers Assns. met with the City Board of Education last night to formulate plans for publicizing the forthcoming $1,475,000 bond issue.

The PTA heads were asked to submit bond issue questions they believed would be asked by city school system tax payers and voters.

They also were asked to select one or two members of their neighborhood PTAs to serve on a bond issue committee.

The purpose of this committee will be to become acquainted with the facts on the necessity of the bond issue and to assist in organizing a series of steps to place the factual information before the school voters.

MEETING with the city school board were Mrs. Doyle Painter, Atwater; Mrs. George Speakman and Mrs. C. E. Linn, co-chairmen of Corwin PTA; Mrs. Otto Guenther, Franklin-Mound; Mrs. Robert Willis, High Street; Mrs. Russell Skaggs, Walnut Court; Mrs. George Kline, Wayne, and Joseph Bell, general PTA president.

In other business, the local board adopted the 7th and 8th grade football program, which will be backed by the Circleville Booster Club. Board members said it will work in with the planned 7th and 8th grade neighborhood elementary schools.

Bank Bandit Feels Better In Confession

BELLFLOWER, Calif. (AP) — Joe Shellnut, who turned himself in and announced he had robbed a bank, says he feels better now.

Investigators say he may have company — bank teller James Johnson, who admits he once discussed the possibility of a robbery with Shellnut.

Shellnut, 30, and Johnson, 31, have known each other for 17 years.

Both were booked on suspicion of robbery Tuesday.

Shellnut disclosed this somewhat unorthodox timetable of crime: Friday he robbed a bank of $4,000. Monday he sent the money back to the bank in the mail.

Tuesday, Shellnut, who said his conscience was driving him nuts, surrendered.

A few hours later, investigators found Johnson at Shellnut's house and arrested him. Detectives said Johnson admitted he and Shellnut once talked about robbing the bank where he worked but "not seriously."

Seriously or not, Shellnut said it was easy for him to rob the First Western Bank of Bellflower.

"I walked in and passed over a note to the teller and said, 'Snap it up, Jack.'"

"He and I were buddies together at school. But he didn't recognize me what with my false mustache, dyed hair, hoodlum hat and gear."

Westfall Bond Issue Calls For 3.94 Mills

The tax rate necessary to support the proposed $1,395,000 bond issue for construction of a Westfall School District high school is 3.94 mills instead of 8.94 mills as incorrectly stated in yesterday's Herald.

The proposed bond issue, to appear on the May 3 primary ballot, is for the erection and equipping of the new high school building for the recently consolidated school district.

The 3.94 mill levy rate was set by Pickaway County Auditor Mrs. Marvina H. Rhoades. It is a reduction of 0.03 of a mill from that which would have to be required of Westfall landowners if the similar bond issue had passed in the November, 1959 off-year general election.

The new tax rate is based on the 1960 Westfall district real estate valuation of $22,790,145.

U.S. Missile Program Labeled Gratifying

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today called America's missile development record quite gratifying. He rejected proposals for an around-the-clock bomber alert.

At a news conference, the President sided vigorously with Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in their differences with Gen. Thomas S. Power, head of the Strategic Air Command.

Eisenhower rejected Power's call for a continuous airborne bomber alert, and also the general's contention that the United States faces the danger of having its retaliatory striking force knocked out by Soviet missiles.

Eisenhower also said the law should be changed to make nuclear weapons available to responsible U.S. allies.

Eisenhower told his news conference he has always been of the belief that this country should not deny to its allies atomic information already possessed by its potential enemy.

The Atomic Energy Act now prohibits divulging certain information to any foreign country. Eisenhower said this law should be made more liberal so that nuclear information could be given to countries classified as competent to contribute substantially to free world defenses.

The President said U.S. allies should not be regarded merely as junior partners without a voice in defense decisions.

Eisenhower seemed to be a bit irritated when talking of Power's differences with Gates and the joint chiefs.

Too many of these generals have all sorts of ideas, he said. The President warmly praised Gates and Twining and added that he has complete trust in both.

Eisenhower said further he believes he spent enough time in the military to know what he is talking about—and not to be disturbed by what he termed the parochial viewpoints of those who say the bosses know nothing about it.

A reporter asked whether Eisenhower feels there is a basic danger of defeatism developing among the American people.

He replied there is none in his soul, he would say that.

The news conference dealt also with these matters:

POLITICS — Eisenhower spoke warmly once more of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, but again withheld specific endorsement of Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination. However, the President added he wanted to make it perfectly clear, that he is not dissatisfied with, as he put it, the individual who looks as though he has the nomination.

That was a clear allusion to Nixon, now regarded as a shoo-in for the GOP standard.

A reporter told Eisenhower that some California Republicans seemed to be rather surprised that he had made no mention of Nixon in his political speech in Los Angeles a week ago.

Until the new prison is completed and an associate superintendent for custody named, Miller also will be in charge of custody, Corrections Commissioner M. C. Koblenz said. Miller, who has been with the state system since 1942, continues to receive $9,840. He is a native of Columbus.

Succeeding Miller at London will be Gordon B. Leonard, 46, of Columbus, a 20-year employee and member of the headquarters staff in the correction division's Bureau of Classification. He receives $8,280.

Warsaw Pact Meet Slated

Red Nations Hinted Ready To Cut Arms

MOSCOW (AP) — Members of the Warsaw Pact — the Communist bloc's answer to NATO—will hold a summit conference in the Kremlin Thursday.

The subject matter has not been disclosed but there is speculation the Iron Curtain countries will follow the Soviet Union's lead of three weeks ago and announce sharp cuts in their armed forces.

Diplomatic circles say Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev also may announce a phased withdrawal of Soviet troops from East European countries. This would obviously mean greater dependence by those countries on Soviet rocket and nuclear strength.

Party and government chiefs of the Warsaw Pact nations, along with their foreign and defense ministers, will attend the conference.

Many of them have been meeting since Monday for what was officially described as a discussion of Soviet bloc agricultural problems. Experienced Moscow observers believe they dealt with many other matters, including the agenda for Thursday's policy session.

It was understood earlier that Red China would not participate but a report from Peking today said observers would be on hand.

The delegates met under a total new blackout, not broken until Tuesday when Pravda, Izvestia and Trud carried front-page reports of the gathering.

Aside from the reference to agricultural talks, no details of the discussions were carried in the Soviet press.

Bugle Corps To Reorganize For Big Event

A Reorganization Night is slated by the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corp. at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the Memorial Hall.

Past members and interested persons are urged to attend this meeting in order to prepare for the sesquicentennial.

Drum and Bugle Corps officials said a strong move will be made to reorganize the local unit for participation in the sesquicentennial event.

The precision unit has functioned here before, gaining recognition as one of the best in the area. Uniforms and instruments are available and ready for immediate use.

Officials said the only thing lacking at present is a sufficient membership.

From Syria, a partner with Egypt in the United Arab Republic, came a report that Syrian commanders expect an Israeli attack at any time. Col. Akram Deery of the U.A.R. declared Israeli troops are concentrating heavily south of the Sea of Galilee.

An uneasy cease-fire was observed along the frontier Tuesday but there were reports of scattered mortar and machine gun fire after nightfall.

A 5,000-man U.N. Emergency Force has been policing the Egyptian-Israeli frontier since Israel's invasion of Egypt in 1956.

The Israeli government has accused Syria of using Tawafik village as a military outpost, and stationing soldiers there disguised as farmers. Israeli patrols raided the village over the weekend and destroyed most of the houses.

The Syrians claim Israel is using the charge as a pretext to block Arab farmers from exercising their rights to cultivate lands in the area.

Bank Bandit Feels Better In Confession

BELLFLOWER, Calif. (AP) — Joe Shellnut, who turned himself in and announced he had robbed a bank, says he feels better now.

Investigators say he may have company — a bank teller James Johnson, who admits he once discussed the possibility of a robbery with Shellnut.

Shellnut, 30, and Johnson, 31, have known each other for 17 years.

Both were booked on suspicion of robbery Tuesday.

Shellnut disclosed this somewhat unorthodox timetable of crime: Friday he robbed a bank of $4,000. Monday he sent the money back to the bank in the mail. Tuesday, Shellnut, who said his conscience was driving him nuts, surrendered.

A few hours later, investigators found Johnson at Shellnut's house and arrested him. Detectives said Johnson admitted he and Shellnut once talked about robbing the bank where he worked but "not seriously."

Seriously or not, Shellnut said it was easy for him to rob the First Western Bank of Bellflower.

"I walked in and passed over a note to the teller and said, 'Snap it up, Jack.'"

"He and I were buddies together at school. But he didn't recognize me what with my false mustache, dyed hair, hoodlum hat and cigar."

Navy Pilot Safe As Jet Crashes

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — A Navy pilot parachuted to safety near here Tuesday night just before his jet trainer plowed into the earth and exploded.

The T-2J crashed about 200 yards behind a gasoline station at Pleasantville, eight miles northeast of here. No one was hurt in the crash and explosion.

The pilot, Lt. (J.G.) Charles Robert Buffkin, 24, of Norfolk, Va., landed about a half-mile from the airplane. Buffkin said he was ferrying the plane to Norfolk. What went wrong was not determined immediately.

Gunrunning Trial Nearing Its End

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The trial of six men accused of conspiring to fly stolen guns to Cuban rebels neared an end in U.S. District Court today as defense attorneys continued to sum up their cases.

In a partial summation Tuesday attorney Vincent M. Casey argued that the government failed to prove its case against his clients—Joseph Giordano and Victor Carlucci, both of New Kensington, Pa., and Daniel Hanna of Arnold, Pa.

The other defendants are Stuart Sutor, Hialeah, Fla.; Norman Rothman and Joseph Merola, both of Miami Fla.

The government contends the defendants plotted to smuggle guns stolen from an armory at Canton, Ohio, to Cuban rebels in 1958.

PTA Heads Hear Bond Issue Plans

Presidents of the Circleville school system neighborhood Parent Teachers Assns. met with the City Board of Education last night to formulate plans for publicizing the forthcoming $1,475,000 bond issue.

The PTA heads were asked to submit bond issue questions they believed would be asked by city school system tax payers and voters.

They also were asked to select one or two members of their neighborhood PTAs to serve on a bond issue committee.

The purpose of this committee will be to become acquainted with the facts on the necessity of the bond issue and to assist in organizing a series of steps to place the factual information before the school voters.

MEETING with the city school board were Mrs. Doyle Painter, Atwater; Mrs. George Speakman and Mrs. C. E. Linn, co-chairmen of Corwin PTA; Mrs. Otto Guenther, Franklin-Mound; Mrs. Robert Willis, High Street; Mrs. Russell Skaggs, Walnut-Court; Mrs. George Kline, Wayne, and Joseph Bell, general PTA president.

In other business, the local board adopted the 7th and 8th grade football program, which will be backed by the Circleville Booster Club. Board members said it will work in with the planned 7th and 8th grade neighborhood elementary schools.

French Senate Set To Grant Powers

PARIS (AP)—The French Senate is expected to give quick approval today to the government's request for a free hand in dealing with the instigators of the Algerian settlers' revolt and to guard against new outbreaks.

The National Assembly earlier today voted 449-79 for the bill giving the government broad special powers.

Parliament was called back into extraordinary session to approve the special powers requested by the government and President Charles de Gaulle. They would enable the regime to legislate by decree for the next year in matters concerning maintenance or order, safeguarding the republic and pacification and administration of Algeria.

The decrees must be submitted to Parliament by April 1, 1961 for ratification or rejection. Meantime they will have the full force of law.

If the Senate should amend the bill passed by the deputies, another meeting of the Assembly would be necessary to consider the changes.

The deputies insisted on writing into the bill a provision that De Gaulle must approve all decrees. This was hardly necessary since De Gaulle presides over Cabinet meetings where decrees are adopted and commands the loyalty of the government.

The special powers bill will give De Gaulle and the government moral backing for any tough measures under consideration to punish extremist elements opposed to De Gaulle's Algerian policies.

Westfall Bond Issue Calls For 3.94 Mills

The tax rate necessary to support the proposed $1,395,000 bond issue for construction of a Westfall School District high school is 3.94 mills instead of 8.94 mills as incorrectly stated in yesterday's Herald.

The proposed bond issue, to appear on the May 3 primary ballot, is for the erection and equipping of the new high school building for the recently consolidated school district.

The 3.94 mill levy rate was set by Pickaway County Auditor Mrs. Marvyn H. Rhoades. It is a reduction of 0.93 of a mill from that which would have to be required of Westfall landowners if the similar bond issue had passed in the November, 1959 off-year general election.

The new tax rate is based on the 1960 Westfall district real estate valuation of $22,790,145.

U.S. Missile Program Labeled Gratifying

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today called America's missile development record quite gratifying. He rejected proposals for an around-the-clock bomber alert.

At a news conference, the President sided vigorously with Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in their differences with Gen. Thomas S. Power, head of the Strategic Air Command.

Eisenhower rejected Power's call for a continuous airborne, bomber alert, and also the general's contention that the United States faces the danger of having its retaliatory striking force knocked out by Soviet missiles.

Eisenhower also said the law should be changed to make nuclear weapons available to responsible U.S. allies.

Eisenhower told his news conference he has always been of the belief that this country should not deny to its allies atomic information already possessed by its potential enemy.

The Atomic Energy Act now prohibits divulging certain information to any foreign country. Eisenhower said this law should be made more liberal so that nuclear information could be given to countries classified as competent to contribute substantially to free world defenses.

The President said U.S. allies should not be regarded merely as junior partners without a voice in defense decisions.

Eisenhower seemed to be a bit irritated when talking of Power's differences with Gates and the joint chiefs.

Too many of these generals have all sorts of ideas, he said.

The President warmly praised Gates and Twining and added that he has complete trust in both.

Eisenhower said further he believes he spent enough time in the military to know what he is talking about—and not to be disturbed by what he termed the parochial viewpoints of those who say the bosses know nothing about it.

A reporter asked whether Eisenhower feels there is a basic danger of defeatism developing among the American people.

He replied there is none in his soul, he would say that.

The news conference dealt also with these matters:

POLITICS — Eisenhower spoke warmly once more of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, but again withheld specific endorsement of Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination. However, the President added he wanted to make it perfectly clear that he is not dissatisfied with, as he put it, the individual who looks as though he has the nomination.

That was a clear allusion to Nixon, now regarded as a shoo-in for the GOP standard.

A reporter told Eisenhower that some California Republicans seemed to be rather surprised that he had made no mention of Nixon in his political speech in Los Angeles a week ago.

The newsman asked whether

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two veteran supervisors in Ohio's penal system have been appointed associated superintendents of state prisons.

George E. Miller, 40, associate superintendent for treatment at London Prison Farm, will take a similar assignment at the new Lebanon Correctional Institution on March 1.

Until the new prison is completed and an associate superintendent for custody named, Miller also will be in charge of custody, Corrections Commissioner M. C. Koblenz said. Miller, who has been with the state system since 1942, continues to receive $9,840. He is a native of Columbus.

Succeeding Miller at London will be Gordon B. Leonard, 46, of Columbus, a 20-year employee and member of the headquarters staff in the correction division's Bureau of Classification. He receives $8,280.

misled in the November, 1958 general election.

The Clearcreek Council for Fairfield Consolidation last night stated it stands behind and will continue to stand behind the consolidation which formed the Amanda-Clearcreek Local School District.

The Council maintains the tax rate for the Logan Elm School District is 18.15 mills, which is 4.5 mills more than the taxation rate of the Amanda - Clearcreek School District rate of 13.7 mills.

"This would mean a 25 per cent increase in property taxes if Clearcreek Twp. is transferred into Logan Elm School District," Council members continued.

It said, "only three miles of improved roads lay between the present Stoutsville School building and the unfinished Logan Elm High School. The rest of the distance is made up of narrow and winding unimproved gravel roads.

"We now have two members from Clearcreek Twp. on the Amanda - Clearcreek Board of Education while we do not have representation on the Logan Elm Board of Education and no guarantee of ever having representation on said board.

"THE SCHOOL buildings at both Stoutsville and Amanda villages could be used to the fullest advantage until increased enrollment brings the need for additional classrooms to be built.

"If consolidation is affected with Logan Elm, everyone must begin to pay immediately on a school debt which the voters of Clearcreek Twp. had no opportunity to express an opinion on by the use of the vote.

"Many conflicts will arise with school children attending school in one county and attempting to participate in leadership development activities in another county.

"Why should the voters in Clearcreek Twp. have to abide by the results of a misrepresented election which was declared invalid by the 5th District Court of Appeals."

"Sixteen years ago when the Oakland school burned, the fire insurance repayment of $20,000 was placed in bonds and was used for the addition to the building at Stoutsville. This means we still have $ obligation to provide a community center for Oakland.

"The survey team of the Ohio University Center of Educational Services stated in their report that the consolidation of Stoutsville and Amanda schools would be vital and lasting.

"WE ALSO know that we have the support of the Fairfield County Board of Education in our wants and needs as voters in Clearcreek Twp.

"We feel that the community dis-sension in the Stoutsville area must cease before it becomes irreparable to the point that no consolidation can take place without the complete loss of the still un-paid - for Stoutsville School Building as an educational unit.

The Better School Committee counters these arguments as follows "The school tax rate of the Amanda - Clearcreek district will have to be raised in the near future to meet the added costs of education services in the community.

"It still is better to transport children over unimproved roads, that probably will be repaired in the future, than over the highly congested Route 22.

"Representation on the Logan Elm Board can be obtained at the next election for school board members when three vacancies will be available.

"Stoutsville and Amanda school buildings are in need of much repair and a bond issue will be necessary in the near future to repair both buildings.

THE STOUTSVILLE school will be used as one through eighth grade elementary school by the

Council Discusses Precinct Changes

Redistribution of Circleville voting precincts was one of the items of business tackled by City Council during a regular meeting last night.

Councilmen David Crawford, Harold Clifton and Boyd Horn were named to a committee to investigate the possibilities of redistributing the voting areas. The proposal probably will be discussed further at the next meeting.

Additional business coming before the city fathers was a lengthy discussion regarding new sanitary sewers for proposed housing developments here.

Raymond Rader and Charles Smith, the latter representing C. F.

Replogle, appeared before the Solingons to air the sewer projects. Both Rader and Replogle are interested in developments in areas northeast of the city.

COUNCIL agreed to have Burgess & Nipple Engineering Consultants revise original preliminary plans for this sewer project.

The lawmen passed a resolution for a contract with the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. to add 11 new street lights here. The action also provided for relocation of six present lights.

An ordinance for reclassification of positions, titles and estimated salaries for certain employees of the Division of Water was held to first reading. The measure probably will be up for second reading at the next council meeting.

A letter from the local Business and Professional Womens Club denoting a bicycle safety check was presented to the governing body. The letter requested council to reinstate the sale of bicycle license tags here.

Requests to fill an old box sewer in the east end of the city were heard. The sewer in question is located along Franklin and Mingo Sts. Solicitor Robert Huffer was directed to draw up proper legislation for closing the sewer.

Members also discussed the purchase of new covering for the floor of the council chambers. This matter was referred to the service committee.

Super Salesman Offers Advice on Survival of Films

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joseph Levine, and bustling Bostonian, was in town to drum his latest product and advise the film industry on how to survive.

Hollywood might well listen. Levine is the super salesman who promoted such imports as "Godzilla," "Attila" and "Hercules" into immense profits.

He is not without his detractors. There are some who claim he is a junk dealer who hustles wares that are gilded and prettied up, but remain junk. Levine is too busy spending and making money to worry about such accusations.

Dickinson was elected Chairman for 1960, Al Lustnauer vice - chairman, and Paul Hang, secretary-treasurer.

Gerald Hanley donated the use of the Mecca Dining room for future meetings.

held in the November, 1958 general election.

The Clearcreek Council for Fairfield Consolidation last night stated it stands behind and will continue to stand behind the consolidation which formed the Amanda-Clearcreek Local School District.

The Council maintains the tax rate for the Logan Elm School District is 18.15 mills, which is 4.5 mills more than the taxation rate of the Amanda - Clearcreek School District rate of 13.7 mills.

"This would mean a 25 per cent increase in property taxes if Clearcreek Twp. is transferred into Logan Elm School District," Council members continued.

It said, "only three miles of improved roads lay between the present Stoutsville School building and the unfinished Logan Elm High School. The rest of the distance is made up of narrow and winding unimproved gravel roads."

"We now have two members from Clearcreek Twp. on the Amanda - Clearcreek Board of Education while we do not have representation on the Logan Elm Board of Education and no guarantee of ever having representation on said board."

"THE SCHOOL buildings at both Stoutsville and Amanda villages could be used to the fullest advantage until increased enrollment brings the need for additional classrooms to be built."

"If consolidation is affected with Logan Elm, everyone must begin to pay immediately on a school debt which the voters of Clearcreek Twp. had no opportunity to express an opinion on by the use of the vote."

"Many conflicts will arise with school children attending school in one county and attempting to participate in leadership development activities in another county."

"Why should the voters in Clearcreek Twp. have to abide by the results of a misrepresented election which was declared invalid by the 5th District Court of Appeals?"

"Sixteen years ago when the Oakland school burned, the fire insurance repayment of $20,000 was placed in bonds and was used for the addition to the building at Stoutsville. This means we still have $7 obligation to provide a community center for Oakland."

"The survey team of the Ohio University Center of Educational Services stated in their report that the consolidation of Stoutsville and Amanda schools would be vital and lasting."

"WE ALSO know that we have the support of the Fairfield County Board of Education in our wants and needs as voters in Clearcreek Twp."

"We feel that the community dissection in the Stoutsville area must cease before it becomes irreparable to the point that no consolidation can take place without the complete loss of the still - unpaid - for Stoutsville School Building as an educational unit."

The Better School's group said today it only is interested in providing better school facilities and education opportunities for its children now, not in years to come.

Council Discusses Precinct Changes

Redistribution of Circleville voting precincts was one of the items of business tackled by City Council during a regular meeting last night.

Councilmen David Crawford, Harold Clifton and Boyd Horn were named to a committee to investigate the possibilities of redistributing the voting areas. The proposal probably will be discussed further at the next meeting.

Additional business coming before the city fathers was a lengthy discussion regarding new sanitary sewers for proposed housing developments here.

Raymond Rader and Charles Smith, the latter representing C. F.

Repligle, appeared before the Solons to air the sewer projects. Both Rader and Repligle are interested in developments in areas northeast of the city.

COUNCIL agreed to have Burgess & Nipple Engineering Consultants revise original preliminary plans for this sewer project.

The lawmen passed a resolution for a contract with the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. to add 11 new street lights here. The action also provided for relocation of six present lights.

An ordinance for reclassification of positions, titles and estimated salaries for certain employees of the Division of Water was held to first reading. The measure probably will be up for second reading at the next council meeting.

A letter from the local Business and Professional Womens Club denoting a bicycle safety check was presented to the governing body. The letter requested council to reinstate the sale of bicycle license tags here.

Requests to fill an old box sewer in the east end of the city were heard. The sewer in question is located along Franklin and Mingo Sts. Solicitor Robert Huffer was directed to draw up proper legislation for closing the sewer.

Members also discussed the purchase of new covering for the floor of the council chambers. This matter was referred to the service committee.

South African Rescuers Near Trapped Miners

COALBROOK, South Africa (AP)—Rescue teams neared the halfway mark today as they drilled toward a cave-in that entombed 435 coal miners 12 days ago.

One of three drills boring toward the area 515 feet underground reached a depth of 226 feet late Tuesday night. Another reached 118 feet and the third pushed through 60 feet. Other workers continued blasting for an emergency shaft.

Logan Elm Board. Why remain in present inadequate facilities when Logan Elm offers a new school to be opened this fall?

"We maintain that if anyone was misled it was the people who voted against consolidation because they were promised that their entire 12-grade school would remain here. Now plans call for the high school to transfer to Amanda," they concluded.

The Better School's group said today it only is interested in providing better school facilities and education opportunities for its children now, not in years to come.

Super Salesman Offers Advice on Survival of Films

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joseph Levine, and bustling Bostonian, was in town to drum his latest product and advise the film industry on how to survive.

Hollywood might well listen. Levine is the super salesman who promoted such imports as "Godzilla," "Attila" and "Hercules" into immense profits.

He is not without his detractors. There are some who claim he is a junk dealer who hustles wares that are gilded and prettied up, but remain junk. Levine is too busy spending and making money to worry about such accusations.

"Take 'Hercules,'" he suggested. "I knew it was going to be a critics' picture. But I also knew there was something in it that the public would like. And they did."

He cited "Attila." No one wanted to issue it in this country, and it languished for four years until Levine snapped it up for $100,000. The Sophia Loren-Anthony Quinn epic grossed two million dollars.

"Loren has made seven pictures in this country and not one has been a success, though she's still getting $300,000 per film," the movie man remarked. "I made money with 'Attila' because there was something in it that the public liked."

But that isn't all it takes for movie money nowadays, he said. Selling must be added. That's where he feels the major companies fall down.

"I've seen picture after picture that could earn 3 or 4 million more if they are properly sold," he said. "But they won't go all-out. They spend a lot of money for advertising in a few towns, then skip after that. They figure it isn't needed."

Pro Forecasts Unaffected by Stock Decline

Government Chiefs
Also Optimistic
About U.S. Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The sharp drop in stock prices in January may have shaken some business confidence. But it hasn't fazed the belief of some of the professional forecasters that the country will go right on expanding this year.

Nor has it deterred government chiefs from increasing their budget requests and expecting to meet this higher spending through larger tax collections. It looks like the biggest year ever for total government spending and taxing.

Stock market sell-offs usually have a double psychological effect. Businessmen wonder if the market is accurately forecasting what business may be like six months hence and they turn cautious in their planning. Consumers get doubts about how good times—and their incomes—may be in the months ahead and they could get cautious in their spending, too.

Also, shrinkage in the value of stock portfolios cuts down on capital gains—which often are used for the purchase of luxury items.

But some professional economists are taking the January stock price decline in stride. They have just told the Joint Congressional Economic Committee that they look for business activity to keep on climbing and perhaps go higher even than President Eisenhower predicted in his budget message.

The President asked for more spending the next fiscal year than this. But he said good times should bring in more income tax revenue. Along with sums he wants Congress to provide by raising the federal gas tax and the price of postage stamps. And on that basis he expects a Treasury surplus, and he wants that applied to the federal debt.

At the local level, the pressure for more spending is often intense. Growing communities need many things, all requiring money. Higher taxes now, or borrowing and higher taxes later, are often the alternatives.

This leads the Tax Foundation, a private research group, to estimate that total federal, state and local government spending in the upcoming fiscal year may reach 156 billion dollars. The latest available official figure is that of the Census Bureau for fiscal 1958, when the total was 135 billion dollars.

Statewide Flu Epidemic Is Not Expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Chances of a statewide influenza epidemic in the next few months are slim, an Ohio Health Department official said today.

But the spokesman, Dr. Winslow J. Bashe of the department's Communicable Diseases Division, added that a number of Ohioans probably will get the flu without leaving the old home town.

"If there's going to be a statewide sweep," Bashe explained, "we generally see signs during the fall and early winter. An outbreak of the type noted lately in central Ohio will spread across the state in six to eight weeks if there's going to be a major problem."

Bashe said the department expects a certain amount of influenza to occur in various Ohio communities, but "at a smoldering level, rather than any kind of 'brushfire sweep.'"

"Any one community can expect to experience some influenza," he added, but there should be nothing like the 1957 epidemic, when 7,743 cases were reported across the state.

It Was Bad Day for Man In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Tuesday was a bad day for Albert Spears, 42, of Springfield, and the groundhog had nothing to do with it.

His car fell on him, he was sent to the hospital and he was arrested, all within a matter of a few minutes.

It all started when the clutch in Spears' car refused to function as it should. So he jacked it up at the curb in front of his house.

Spears was tinkering away when a hit-skip driver hit the back of the car, knocking it from its jack and pinning Spears to the street.

Before police and the Fire Division emergency squad arrived he had worked himself loose and was standing beside his car complaining of back and knee pains.

The emergency squad took him to the hospital and a police cruiser followed with the officers preparing a traffic ticket for Spears.

Spears will appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer a charge of repairing his car on a city street.

The hit-skip driver? He gave himself up to police later and was charged with reckless driving. Wilford Strickland, 37, of Springfield said his car just touched the bumper of Spears' car, he could see no damage and drove on.

Pro Forecasts Unaffected by Stock Decline

Government Chiefs
Also Optimistic
About U.S. Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The sharp drop in stock prices in January may have shaken some business confidence. But it hasn't fazed the belief of some of the professional forecasters that the country will go right on expanding this year.

Nor has it deterred government chiefs from increasing their budget requests and expecting to meet this higher spending through larger tax collections. It looks like the biggest year ever for total government spending and taxing.

Stock market sell-offs usually have a double psychological effect. Businessmen wonder if the market is accurately forecasting what business may be like six months hence and they turn cautious in their planning. Consumers get doubts about how good times and their incomes—may be in the months ahead and they could get cautious in their spending, too.

Also, shrinkage in the value of stock portfolios cuts down on capital gains—which often are used for the purchase of luxury items.

But some professional economists are taking the January stock price decline in stride. They have just told the Joint Congressional Economic Committee that they look for business activity to keep on climbing and perhaps go higher even than President Eisenhower predicted in his budget message.

The President asked for more spending the next fiscal year than this. But he said good times should bring in more income tax revenue. Along with sums he wants Congress to provide by raising the federal gas tax and the price of postage stamps. And on that basis he expects a Treasury surplus, and he wants that applied to the federal debt.

At the local level, the pressure for more spending is often intense. Growing communities need many things, all requiring money. Higher taxes now, or borrowing and higher taxes later, are often the alternatives.

This leads the Tax Foundation, a private research group, to estimate that total federal, state and local government spending in the upcoming fiscal year may reach 156 billion dollars. The latest available official figure is that of the Census Bureau for fiscal 1958, when the total was 135 billion dollars.

Statewide Flu Epidemic Is Not Expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Chances of a statewide influenza epidemic in the next few months are slim, an Ohio Health Department official said today.

But the spokesman, Dr. Winslow J. Bashe of the department's Communicable Diseases Division, added that a number of Ohioans probably will get the flu without leaving the old home town.

"If there's going to be a statewide sweep," Bashe explained, "we generally see signs during the fall and early winter. An outbreak of the type noted lately in central Ohio will spread across the state in six to eight weeks if there's going to be a major problem."

Bashe said the department expects a certain amount of influenza to occur in various Ohio communities, but "at a smoldering level, rather than any kind of 'brushfire sweep.'"

"Any one community can expect to experience some influenza," he added, but there should be nothing like the 1957 epidemic, when 7,743 cases were reported across the state.

It Was Bad Day for Man In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Tuesday was a bad day for Albert Spears, 42, of Springfield, and the groundhog had nothing to do with it.

His car fell on him, he was sent to the hospital and he was arrested, all within a matter of a few minutes.

It all started when the clutch in Spears' car refused to function as it should. So he jacked it up at the curb in front of his house.

Spears was tinkering away when a hit-skip driver hit the back of the car, knocking it from its jack and pinning Spears to the street.

Before police and the Fire Division emergency squad arrived he had worked himself loose and was standing beside his car complaining of back and knee pains.

The emergency squad took him to the hospital and a police cruiser followed with the officers preparing a traffic ticket for Spears.

Spears will appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer a charge of repairing his car on a city street.

The hit-skip driver? He gave himself up to police later and was charged with reckless driving. Wilford Strickland, 37, of Springfield said his car just touched the bumper of Spears' car, he could see no damage and drove on.

Caddy Miller's

U.S. Stiffer toward Castro

Washington appears to be stiffening slightly in its attitude toward the Castro regime's seizure of the Cuban property of U. S. citizens.

A State Department protest against the confiscations delivered to the Havana government pointed out that the seizures are a denial of the basic rights of ownership of U. S. citizens in Cuba, rights provided both under Cuban law and generally accepted international law.

The reaction of most Americans probably is: "It's about time." But the protest may be motivated by the graver implications of the Castro acts.

The Cuban confiscations — which seem to have been stepped up since the Washington protest was delivered at Havana — are coinciding with efforts by the major governments of the West to urge private capital to invest in the underdeveloped lands.

Private enterprise has been reluctant — and understandably so — because of the governments after such enterprises abroad are launched. A change in attitude on the part of even socialistic governments in such lands is helping to transform this reluctance.

But the Cuban antics are like a dash of cold water. They are an unfortunate reminder of the difficulties attending investment in countries still unstable politically.

Perhaps this is what has convinced Washington that it must protest in Cuba if it is to be taken seriously in promising its support for venture capitalism in other areas of the globe.

School Discipline OKd

Little red schoolhouses may be almost extinct, but not all of their adornments have disappeared entirely. The hickory stick, for example. Ah, but this is the age of enlightenment, someone says, and everyone knows corporal punishment is a product of the dark ages which has no place in an era of sophistication.

That's what Junior thought until his schoolmarm unleashed the leather strap on his posterior. And chances are the law will not interfere with the embarrassing reminder that there are more effective ways to achieve good behavior than by coddling.

Five states — Florida, Montana, Vermont, Virginia and California — have passed legislation specifically authorizing teachers to use corporal punishment in cases of unruly behavior, providing there is no malicious intent and the punishment is moderate. Only New Jersey has passed a no-punishment law.

Classroom conduct has gone through many evolutionary processes since the iron-hand discipline of one-room schoolmasters, but it should be reassuring to parents, if not to their offspring, that the teacher is still the master of the classroom.

On the Horizon — Age 50

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Every year my life insurance agent sends me a congratulatory post card on my birthday.

This month I figure he ought to splurge a bit and send a "get well" telegram. For it marks the starting of my 50th year, a landmark a man passes only once in his life.

Technically, I will be only 49, but I can see 50 on the rim of the horizon, and already I am getting those who said 50 was nifty blues.

Years ago my birthdays were kind of fun. They gave me an excuse to go around and collect kisses from all the pretty girls in the office.

His 40th birthday is a major disaster in any man's life. He doesn't fall for that Pollyanna guff that life begins at 40. He knows better. Middle age hits him with the impact of an onrushing locomotive.

"When does the fun begin?" he asks plaintively, and feels in his heart that for him the fun of living is mainly past.

I felt so low at 40 myself that almost every year since then my mother on my birthday has mailed me a note with these two same cautionary bits of advice: "Child, child, don't you know there'll be another day?" and "Sit loosely in the saddle of life."

But the 40s are a dark walk in a darkening forest, as you fight the thought every day carries you farther from the pogo stick and nearer to the wheel chair.

And what about the prospect of being 50? Well, strangely, as the half-century mark looms closer, you glimpse a patch of sunlight in the jungle. You know you have weathered being in the 40s, and you know that nothing can be worse than that.

You become more tolerant of the antics of teen-agers, and thank your stars you'll never have to be one again. You pity rather than envy youth.

In reading a newspaper, you turn first to the obituary page, then to the stock market tables, then to the medical column—and then to the sports page.

Women of 25 and 30 seem giddy and immature to you. Women of 40 and 45 are endowed with a new and mellow charm.

You give up the idea that when you awake tomorrow you'll feel as good as you did 20 years ago. You know damn well you'll feel just like you did when you awoke yesterday.

You quit writing letters of advice to your congressman, and decide to let him stew in his own juice.

You no longer have to listen to your wife, because you know everything she says by heart—and, if she challenges you, you can play any of her verbal records back from memory.

You don't fight so hard against gathering fat, lost causes, and life itself. You are content to realize that one life isn't long enough to change the wide world.

Life isn't as exciting as it once was, but it is far more comfortable.

You give up looking for new heroes. In a quiet way you feel that, after all, you are your own best hero.

And, in a way, isn't that rather true? Isn't anyone who survives to his 50th year in this century a kind of a hero?

A Protective Against Tyranny

By George Sokolsky

Dr. Joseph Link, Jr., Associate Professor of Economics and Business Administration at Xavier University in Cincinnati, asks:

"Why not promote some genuinely healthy ideas for our overexhausted political world? Why not Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Fulton Sheen, Dr. Conant of Harvard, Gen. Wedemeyer, Gen. MacArthur, Senator Knowland or some of our respected leaders in business, the professions (education, science, engineering, medicine) and other fields for presidential timber?"

This question arises every four years when a President is to be elected. One always wonders why the very great men of the country, the leaders of business, education, industry, science do not present themselves for the Presidency. The answer, of course, is that they are usually not suitable for political administration, for the compromises essential to the orderly conduct of a democratic government, for observing carefully the checks and balances which are inherent in our Constitution.

It is true that the businessman has to worry about stockholders, boards of directors, the SEC, the FTC and similar impediments, but if his balance sheet stands up, he can generally fight off opposition. In politics, the opposition is constant; it is part of a free society. It is a protective against tyranny.

The President of the United States does not rule or reign. He is an arbiter among the vast variety of men and women who compose the American people and who have the constitutional right not only to express their opinion but to press for its implementation. He must recognize that in a free society no one man can have his way absolutely and he must be so constituted temperamentally that other men respect him and wish to work with him. He cannot have his way because he is the Boss. The Boss is every man who has a vote on Election Day.

The only educator who made the Presidency was Woodrow Wilson and he was too arbitrary for his own or the country's good. True, he generally knew what he was talking about but so did Theodore Roosevelt, Henry Cabot Lodge and Nicholas Murray Butler. Woodrow Wilson is an excellent example of why an educator makes a poor President; he is used to telling people what is just so and if you disagree you get an F and flunk out. Whereas Wilson was one of the best educated, the best prepared Presidents he nevertheless failed in his greatest venture because he would not recognize the essence of constitutional Congressional government about which he wrote a brilliant study before he became President.

The scientist who comes out of his laboratory to tell mankind what his test-tube told him is not likely to make a competent President because he is apt to overlook the stresses and strains in human nature. To him a fact is a fact. To the politician a fact is something that the voters temporarily accept as true. A scientist cannot compromise with the ignorance of plain, ordinary people; a politician must, because the plain, ordinary people are sovereign. They are his employers and his masters.

The scientist may say that that proves that our way of life is wrong because not the brainy but the stupid rule. Yet if we have a look at history, we find that, on the whole we have done extraordinarily well in this country, developing a high standard of living, a large measure of freedom, and providing for human welfare and both social and juristic justice.

So to sum it up, those men emerge to be Presidential candidates who possess qualities which give the impression to the people that they can hold this office without becoming tyrants, without violating the Constitution, without abusing their power and authority, without disgracing us in the eyes of the world. On the whole, the people have not made too many errors and sometimes the least likely person turns out to be so great a personality that he astounds the world.

What contemporary of Abraham Lincoln, on the day of his election, believed that the choice was the best for the country? There was as much doubt in the North as there was in the South as to his character, his ability, his right to the position. He was not Presidential material at a time of authentic great men. Nevertheless, today many Americans in both the North and the South look upon Lincoln as perhaps the greatest of all Presidents since Washington.

LAFF-A-DAY

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF BILLY ROSE'S funniest stories concerns the time he was hired as a "consultant" for Universal Pictures.

The Laemmle family still ruled that company with an iron hand, and it was to them that Billy presented his great idea. "You're going to make 'Show Boat,' I know," said Billy, "but this is its second time around in movie form, and you've got to have some new feature to advertise. And since by this time everybody in the country knows songs like 'Ol' Man River' and 'Can't Help Lovin' That Man,' I propose that you throw out the whole Jerome Kern score, and have a brand new one written for the picture."

When people burst out laughing at this ludicrous notion, Billy Rose says, "Go ahead and laugh—but they accepted the idea and had a new score for 'Show Boat' actually written. I don't recall what it cost them—but I do know I parted company with Universal a short time later."

DDT Is Given More Research

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

The recent contamination of a small portion of the cranberry crop by the herbicide, aminotriazole, naturally leads many persons to wonder about the widespread use of DDT.

As president of the Chicago Board of Health I had to ban the sale of all cranberries in Chicago for several days until we could determine which supplies might be contaminated and which were undoubtedly safe.

I doubt that I ever will have to take such drastic action as far as DDT is concerned.

Repeated studies have shown that detectable amounts of this insecticide are regularly present in many prepared meals.

This is not surprising since a greater tonnage of DDT is used in agriculture than any other organic pesticide. Some 137,747,000 pounds were produced during the 1955-56 crop year.

However, tests indicate that chronic DDT poisoning at the current dietary level is unlikely.

Dr. Mark F. Ortelee of Savannah, Ga., looked into the matter of DDT contamination pretty thoroughly back in 1958.

He reasoned that the effects of exposure to any toxic compound should be most evident in persons who are subjected to intensive and prolonged exposure; therefore, he studied 40 men engaged in the manufacture of formulation of the insecticide.

He reported that he found no correlation between DDT exposure and the distribution of abnormalities in these men with the exception of a few cases of minor eye and skin irritation.

These men had been exposed to DDT for as long as six and a half years. Moreover, Dr. Ortelee reported, they were exposed in such a way that they absorbed about 200 times as much DDT as is absorbed by the general population from their diet.

Dr. Ortelee's study was reported by the American Medical Association's Archives of Industrial Health in November, 1958. I know, because I looked it up in an effort to head off any questions about DDT before they began pouring into my office.

Olympic Flame Has Arrived In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Squaw Valley's Olympic flame, flown over the top of the world by airliner, arrived in California during a mid-winter rainstorm.

But the carefully guarded flame didn't flicker and the attendant ritualism commenced as scheduled.

Parry O'Brien, Olympic shot put champion, met the plane Monday. Then he and Olav Groen-skard, who accompanied the symbolic torch from Norway, were taken to Memorial Coliseum by helicopter.

The torch had been sparked early last Sunday morning in a cottage at the village of Morgedal, Norway. The cottage once was the home of Sondre Norheim — "The Father of Modern Skiing" — and the flame has burned there since Norheim lighted it about 100 years ago.

The torch was given to a runner, beginning a relay that ultimately will involve 600 runners, each taking the flame a mile on the route to Squaw Valley where the Winter games begin Feb. 18.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Progress in civil rights may seem snail-slow to Southern Negroes who have been denied them. But some progress is being made, in bits and pieces.

Tuesday the Senate, by a two-thirds vote and without a Southern filibuster approved a constitutional amendment to outlaw any requirement for payment of a poll tax before a person can vote in federal elections. Only five Southern states still have a poll tax.

The ban won't become a reality unless two-thirds of the House, and after that three-fourths of the states, also approve. The states have seven years in which to act.

Perhaps the long delay before the tax can be banned explains in part why Southern opposition to it was less than all-out. The amendment was even sponsored by a Southerner, Sen. Spessard Holland (D-Fla.).

Maybe a better explanation is that the poll tax as an issue has lost most of its significance. Negroes are better able to afford such a tax now than they were in the poverty-stricken years of the past.

Nowadays Southern whites who want to keep Negroes from voting use other means: intimidation or blocking them from registering. Yet, no longer ago than the 1940s, anti-poll tax proposals were a flaming issue.

Actually, in those days attempts to get through such a measure were the prelude to a political farce in Congress. Almost invariably the House would pass a bill but Southern Democrats in the Senate filibustered it to death.

This happened in 1942, 1943, 1945 and 1947. In 1949 the House again approved but the anti-poll tax bill never reached the Senate floor.

Of course there was a great difference between the anti-poll tax bills which the House approved but the Senate blocked and the amendment approved Tuesday. A bill would have become law immediately after a simple majority vote in both houses.

It may be seven years before the states approve the constitutional amendment accepted by the Senate, provided two-thirds of the House members also go along. It is still questionable whether the states will approve.

But the dam against civil rights progress was broken in 1954 when the Supreme Court outlawed public school segregation and made civil rights such a national issue that neither the North nor South could ignore it.

It is doubtful that Congress in 1957 could have passed its first civil rights bill in 82 years—also without a filibuster — if the Supreme Court hadn't broken down the barriers.

Later this year there is a strong possibility that another civil rights bill — perhaps more meaningful than the extremely mild one of 1957—may get through.

The amendment which cleared the Senate Tuesday got some Southern opposition, largely on the grounds that even a change in the Constitution to forbid the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting is an interference with the rights of states to set up their own voting requirements.

Mansfield Lawyer Running for Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Attorney Joseph H. Ellison, 44, of Mansfield today filed for the Democratic nomination for the Jan. 2 term as Ohio Supreme Court Judge. He filed petitions bearing 3,673 signatures from 88 counties with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Ellison seeks the seat now held by Supreme Court Judge Kingsley A. Taft, Republican who has filed for re-election.

Ellison, a native of Marion, has lived in Mansfield since 1927. He graduated in 1939 from Ohio State University Law School and served in the 17th District in 1958. In 1952, he was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

Six years ago, Taft had no opposition in either party for re-election.

Ohio Solon Says Her Civil Rights Action Is 'Unpopular'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) says that "from a Republican standpoint I don't think I'm so popular" because of having signed a civil rights discharge petition.

She is the only Ohio House Republican who has signed the petition to force a civil rights bill to the floor. The others vote for civil rights but say they object to the discharge petition method.

"It's just a stupid, silly, asinine method," said Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio). "It's the world's worst way to legislate."

Brown is a member of the House Rules Committee. Clearance by this committee is the usual way for bills to reach the floor.

Most Ohio Democrats in the House—if not all of them—have signed the civil rights petition.

One of them, Rep. Charles A. Vanik (D-Ohio) said Republicans are boycotting this petition because of a "deal" with southern Democrats.

It's the Republican way of repaying the southerners for supporting the Landrum - Griffin labor bill that was passed by the last Congress, he said.

But Brown, in a separate interview, expressed displeasure at any suggestion that a deal is on.

"There is no conspiracy," Brown said.

A reporter asked Mrs. Bolton why she decided to sign the discharge petition.

"They've been wanting to know my stand," she replied.

Asked whether by "they" she meant the Negroes in her district, she replied:

"Yes, and some of the white people, too."

Soviet Hinted Ready To Put Man in Orbit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wernher von Braun, U. S. rocket expert, said today he would not be surprised if the Soviet Union puts a man into orbit and lands instruments on the moon this year.

Von Braun made the observations after warning that the United States should not expect wonders from the 113-million-dollar budget boost given to the space exploration Monday by President Eisenhower.

The German-born space scientist said the accelerated program will move the United States ahead a year in its rocket booster program. But the Soviet Union, he added, will still be several years ahead in space exploration.

He was asked by members of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics when he thought the Soviet Union would achieve manned orbital flight and a soft landing of delicate instruments on the moon.

"I would not be surprised," he said, "if they did these things this year."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has drawn up a 10-year program that calls for putting a man into orbit sometime next year. Instrument landing on the moon is scheduled for 1963.

Famous Teen-Agers Due To Be Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lucas 19, Ohio State's sophomore basketball sensation, will unveil the Ohio Teen-age Hall of Fame gallery Friday in the Statehouse.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt of the Ohio Supreme Court will preside at dedication ceremonies in the south corridor of the Capital at 8:30 a.m.

The hall of fame gallery contains artists' sketches of 32 famous Ohioans who made outstanding records during their youth.

Beneath each sketch appears a statement describing the unusual teen-age achievements that served as a basis for selection.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes, hall of fame founder, said Lucas was chosen for his role in the ceremonies because he excels in scholarship as well as basketball.

U.S. Stiffer toward Castro

Washington appears to be stiffening slightly in its attitude toward the Castro regime's seizure of the Cuban property of U. S. citizens.

A State Department protest against the confiscations delivered to the Havana government pointed out that the seizures are a denial of the basic rights of ownership of U. S. citizens in Cuba, rights provided both under Cuban law and generally accepted international law.

The reaction of most Americans probably is: "It's about time." But the protest may be motivated by the graver implications of the Castro acts.

The Cuban confiscations — which seem to have been stepped up since the Washington protest was delivered at Havana — are coinciding with efforts by the major governments of the West to urge private capital to invest in the underdeveloped lands.

Private enterprise has been reluctant—and understandably so—because of the governments after such enterprises abroad are launched. A change in attitude on the part of even socialist governments in such lands is helping to transform this reluctance.

But the Cuban antics are like a dash of cold water. They are an unfortunate reminder of the difficulties attending investment in countries still unstable politically.

Perhaps this is what has convinced Washington that it must protest in Cuba if it is to be taken seriously in promising its support for venture capitalism in other areas of the globe.

That's what Junior thought until his schoolmarm unleashed the leather strap on his posterior. And chances are the law will not interfere with the embarrassing reminder that there are more effective ways to achieve good behavior than by coddling.

On the Horizon — Age 50

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Every year my life insurance agent sends me a congratulatory post card on my birthday.

This month I figure he ought to splurge a bit and send a "get well" telegram. For it marks the starting of my 50th year, a landmark a man passes only once in his life.

Technically, I will be only 49, but I can see 50 on the rim of the horizon, and already I am getting those who said 50 was nifty blues.

Years ago my birthdays were kind of fun. They gave me an excuse to go around and collect kisses from all the pretty girls in the office.

His 40th birthday is a major disaster in any man's life. He doesn't fall for that Pollyanna guff that life begins at 40. He knows better. Middle age hits him with the impact of an onrushing locomotive.

"When does the fun begin?" he asks plaintively, and feels in his heart that for him the fun of living is mainly past.

I felt so low at 40 myself that almost every year since then my mother on my birthday has mailed me a note with this these two same cautionary bits of advice: "Child, child, don't you know there'll be another day?" and "Sit loosely in the saddle of life."

But the 40s are a dark walk in a darkening forest, as you fight the thought every day carries you farther from the pogo stick and nearer to the wheel chair.

And what about the prospect of being 50? Well, strangely, as the half-century mark looms closer, you glimpse a patch of sunlight in the jungle. You know you have weathered being in the 40s, and you know that nothing can be worse than that.

You become more tolerant of the antics of teen-agers, and thank your stars you'll never have to be one again. You pity rather than envy youth.

In reading a newspaper, you turn first to the obituary page, then to the stock market tables, then to the medical column—and then to the sports page.

Women of 25 and 30 seem giddy and immature to you. Women of 40 and 45 are endowed with a new and mellow charm.

You give up the idea that when you wake tomorrow you'll feel as good as you did 20 years ago. You know darn well you'll feel just like you did when you awoke yesterday.

You quit writing letters of advice to your congressman, and decide to let him stew in his own juice.

You no longer have to listen to your wife, because you know everything she says by heart—and, if she challenges you, you can play any of her verbal records back from memory.

You don't fight so hard against gathering fat, lost causes, and life itself. You are content to realize that one life isn't long enough to change the wide world.

Life isn't as exciting as it once was, but it is far more comfortable.

You give up looking for new heroes. In a quiet way you feel that, after all, you are your own best hero.

And, in a way, isn't that rather true? Isn't anyone who survives to his 50th year in this century a kind of a hero?

A Protective Against Tyranny

By George Sokolsky

Dr. Joseph Link, Jr., Associate Professor of Economics and Business Administration at Xavier University in Cincinnati, asks: "Why not promote some genuinely healthy ideas for our poor exhausted political world? Why not Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Fulton Sheen, Dr. Conant of Harvard, Gen. Wedemeyer, Gen. MacArthur, Senator Knowland or some of our respected leaders in business, the professions (education, science, engineering, medicine) and other fields for presidential timber?"

This question arises every four years when a President is to be elected. One always wonders why the very great men of the country, the leaders of business, education, industry, science do not present themselves for the Presidency. The answer, of course, is that they are usually not suitable for political administration, for the compromises essential to the orderly conduct of a democratic government, for observing carefully the checks and balances which are inherent in our Constitution.

It is true that the businessman has to worry about stockholders, boards of directors, the SEC, the FTC and similar impediments, but if his balance sheet stands up, he can generally fight off opposition. In politics, the opposition is constant; it is part of a free society. It is a protective against tyranny.

The President of the United States does not rule or reign. He is an arbiter among the vast variety of men and women who compose the American people and who have the constitutional right not only to express their opinion but to press for its implementation. He must recognize that in a free society no one man can have his way absolutely and he must be so constituted temperamentally that other men respect him and wish to work with him. He cannot have his way because he is the Boss. The Boss is every man who has a vote on Election Day.

The only educator who made the Presidency was Woodrow Wilson and he was too arbitrary for his own or the country's good. True, he generally knew what he was talking about, but so did Theodore Roosevelt, Henry Cabot Lodge and Nicholas Murray Butler. Woodrow Wilson is an excellent example of why an educator makes a poor President; he is used to telling people what is just so and if you disagree you get an F and flunk out. Where as Wilson was one of the best educated, the best prepared Presidents he nevertheless failed in his greatest venture because he would not recognize the essence of constitutional Congressional government about which he wrote a brilliant study before he became President.

The scientist who comes out of his laboratory to tell mankind what his test-tube told him is not likely to make a competent President because he is apt to overlook the stresses and strains in human nature. To him a fact is a fact. To the politician a fact is something that the voters temporarily accept as true. A scientist cannot compromise with the ignorance of plain, ordinary people; a politician must, because the plain, ordinary people are sovereign. They are his employers and his masters.

The scientist may say that that proves that our way of life is wrong because not the brainy but the stupid rule. Yet if we have a look at history, we find that, on the whole we have done extraordinarily well in this country, developing a high standard of living, a large measure of freedom, and providing for human welfare and both social and justic justice.

So to sum it up, those men emerge to be Presidential candidates who possess qualities which give the impression to the people that they can hold this office without becoming tyrants, without violating the Constitution, without abusing their power and authority, without disgracing us in the eyes of the world. On the whole, the people have not made too many errors and sometimes the least likely person turns out to be so great a personality that he astounds the world.

What contemporary of Abraham Lincoln, on the day of his election, believed that the choice was the best for the country? There was as much doubt in the North as there was in the South as to his character, his ability, his right to the position. He was not Presidential material at a time of authentic great men. Nevertheless, today many Americans in both the North and the South look upon Lincoln as perhaps the greatest of all Presidents since Washington.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF BILLY ROSE'S funniest stories concerns the time he was hired as a "consultant" for Universal Pictures. The Laemmle family still ruled that company with an iron hand, and it was to them that Billy presented his great idea. "You're going to make 'Show Boat,' I know," said Billy, "but this is its second time around in movie form, and you've got to have some new feature to advertise. And since by this time everybody in the country knows songs like 'O! Man River' and 'Can't Help Lovin' That Man,' I propose that you throw out the whole Jerome Kern score, and have a brand new one written for the picture."

When people burst out laughing at this ludicrous notion, Billy Rose says, "Go ahead and laugh—but they accepted the idea and had a new score for 'Show Boat' actually written. I don't recall what it cost them—but I do know I parted company with Universal a short time later."

DDT Is Given More Research

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

The recent contamination of a small portion of the cranberry crop by the herbicide, aminotriazole, naturally leads many persons to wonder about the widespread use of DDT.

As president of the Chicago Board of Health I had to ban the sale of all cranberries in Chicago for several days until we could determine which supplies might be contaminated and which were undoubtedly safe.

I doubt that I ever will have to take such drastic action as far as DDT is concerned.

Repeated studies have shown that detectable amounts of this insecticide are regularly present in many prepared meals.

This is not surprising since a greater tonnage of DDT is used in agriculture than any other organic pesticide. Some 137,747,000 pounds were produced during the 1955-56 crop year.

However, tests indicate that chronic DDT poisoning at the current dietary level is unlikely.

Dr. Mark F. Ortel of Savannah, Ga., looked into the matter of DDT contamination pretty thoroughly back in 1958.

He reasoned that the effects of exposure to any toxic compound should be most evident in persons who are subjected to intensive and prolonged exposure; therefore, he studied 40 men engaged in the manufacture of formulation of the insecticide.

He reported that he found no correlation between DDT exposure and the distribution of abnormalities in these men with the exception of a few cases of minor eye and skin irritation.

These men had been exposed to DDT for as long as six and a half years. Moreover, Dr. Ortel reported, they were exposed in such a way that they absorbed about 200 times as much DDT as is absorbed by the general population from their diet.

Dr. Ortel's study was reported by the American Medical Association's Archives of Industrial Health in November, 1958. I know, because I looked it up in an effort to head off any questions about DDT before they began pouring into my office.

Olympic Flame Has Arrived In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Squaw Valley's Olympic flame, flown over the top of the world by airliner, arrived in California during a mid-winter rainstorm.

But the carefully guarded flame didn't flicker and the attendant ritualism commenced as scheduled.

Parry O'Brien, Olympic shot put champion, met the plane Monday. Then he and Olav Groen-skar, who accompanied the symbolic torch from Norway, were taken to Memorial Coliseum by helicopter.

The torch had been sparked early last Sunday morning in a cottage at the village of Morgedal, Norway. The cottage once was the home of Sondre Norheim — "The Father of Modern Skiing" — and the flame has burned there since Norheim lighted it about 100 years ago.

The torch was given to a runner, beginning a relay that ultimately will involve 600 runners, each taking the flame a mile on the route to Squaw Valley where the Winter games begin Feb. 18.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Progress in civil rights may seem small-slow to Southern Negroes who have been denied them. But some progress is being made, in bits and pieces.

Tuesday the Senate, by a two-thirds vote and without a Southern filibuster approved a constitutional amendment to outlaw any requirement for payment of a poll tax before a person can vote in federal elections. Only five Southern states still have a poll tax.

The ban won't become a reality unless two-thirds of the House, and after that three-fourths of the states, also approve. The states have seven years in which to act.

Perhaps the long delay before the tax can be banned explains in part why Southern opposition to it was less than all-out. The amendment was even sponsored by a Southerner, Sen. Spessard Holland (D-Fla.).

Maybe a better explanation is that the poll tax as an issue has lost most of its significance. Negroes are better able to afford such a tax now than they were in the poverty-stricken years of the past.

Nowadays Southern whites who want to keep Negroes from voting use other means: intimidation or blocking them from registering. Yet, no longer ago than the 1940s, anti-poll tax proposals were a flaming issue.

Actually, in those days attempts to get through such a measure were the prelude to a political force in Congress. Almost invariably the House would pass a bill but Southern Democrats in the Senate filibustered it to death.

This happened in 1942, 1943, 1945 and 1947. In 1949 the House again approved but the anti-poll tax bill never reached the Senate floor.

Of course there was a great difference between the anti-poll tax bills which the House approved but the Senate blocked and the amendment approved Tuesday. A bill would have become law immediately after a simple majority vote in both houses.

It may be seven years before the states approve the constitutional amendment accepted by the Senate, provided two-thirds of the House members also go along. It is still questionable whether the states will approve.

But the dam against civil rights progress was broken in 1954 when the Supreme Court outlawed public school segregation and made civil rights such a national issue that neither the North nor South could ignore it.

Small wire ships are inexpensive and indispensable in making many sauces; use it also when you are whipping up an envelope of instant potato granules. Interestingly enough, a whip will make the potatoes whiter than will a spoon because with it a goodly amount of air is incorporated.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Why Not Just Ask Him?

DEAR ABBY: Does a wife have the right to know what time her husband gets off from work or does she come with the furniture? Does a man have the right to cash his pay check before his wife sees it?

My husband comes home at all hours and claims he has been working overtime. But he doesn't bring home the extra money to prove it. He is either lying about working overtime or else he is spending his money on monkey business. How does a wife find out these things?

IN THE DARK
DEAR IN: A wife has the right to know how many hours her husband works and how much he is paid. Ask him. If he refuses to tell you, warn him that you will go to his place of work and find out from his boss. Then it will be apparent that he can't be trusted, and he'll be lucky to be working any time, let alone over time. Unless I miss my guess, your husband will probably tell you himself.

DEAR ABBY: I think waiters and waitresses should smile and give just as good service to non-tippers as they do to tipsters. And I'll tell you why: Not everybody believes in tipping here on earth. Some people prefer to tip in their wills. So my advice is this: "Keep on giving good service in a Christ-like spirit and maybe they will remember you in their wills." I know of two such cases right here in this town.

DEAR J. G. H.: What you say may be true—but that's a long time to wait for a tip.

DEAR ABBY: Last June we went to Evanston, Ill., to see our son, 22, graduate. Like a bolt from the blue he introduced us to "the girl I intend to marry when my military obligations are over." She graduated also and now has a teaching job.

The only thing we have against her is that she manages to be wherever he is. When his ship docked last week, she went half-way across the country (unchaperoned) to spend the weekend with him. We presume everything is on the up and up because we have raised our son properly and know he has high morals. We understand that she comes from a poor family and our son is the best thing that has ever happened to her and she is not letting him get away. How can we break up this romance without being too obvious?

MRS. D.
DEAR MRS. D.: They are both adults, so cut the comedy AND the cord, Mother. Any effort on your part to break up this romance will be obvious.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ethel Strawser Has Birthday

Mrs. Allen Strawser, 228 Logan St., was hostess to a party honoring her daughter, Ethel May, on her eighth birthday Monday.

Mrs. Strawser was assisted by Sharon Strawser and Mrs. Paula Francis.

HAIRDON'T, HAIRDO!—Little Cherie Martinelli, 5 months old, doesn't like that hair dryer at all in getting her first and so-young beauty treatment in Boston, but when it's over, "I love it!" seems to be the reaction. MISS ANN WEIDINGER

Miss Ann Weidinger, Westerville, former Circleville resident, recently received a $500 full tuition scholarship to the Ohio State School of Cosmetology (formerly Columbus Beauty School), Columbus.

Miss Weidinger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weidinger, Westerville, who made their home at 526 N. Court St., until August, 1959. Miss Weidinger's first three years of high school were at Circleville.

She ranked not only number one in her district but second among 212 students from 90 schools throughout the state.

Wife Preservers

A bride receiving gifts will be wise to write the number of the gift on the outside of the box as well as on the gift itself. That way, she will be able to find the correct boxes easily for repacking.

You can buy chick peas in cans in many food markets. They're delicious added to vegetable soups made with stock as a base. They won't do much for a cream style vegetable soup!

'Ring' Style Of Fashions Is Displayed

PARIS (AP)—Clothes that not only fit but cling to the figure were shown by Jean Desses this morning in the sleekest line of the 1960 spring season.

Busts, waists and hips are prominently visible, in dresses that mould the figure so closely they look poured or painted on. The silhouette is sometimes princess, sometimes sheath.

Desses calls it the "ring" — ring around the bust, ring around the waist, ring around the hips, and sometimes ring around the hem.

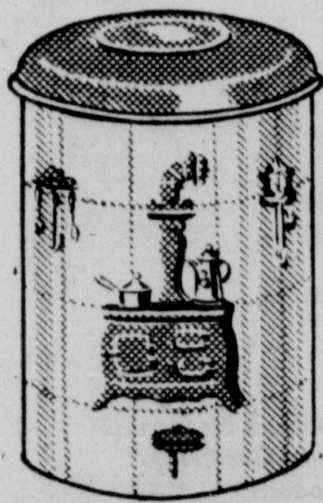

He drops skirts about an inch lower than other houses this season, to still keep them near knee-length.

Even Desses' suit jackets are almost fitted, with a short basque of mushroom pleats or just a hip-gripping band seamed on at the waist. Many slim, straight skirts are also mushroom-pleated, and there are wide box pleats on flaring princess skirts.

Ivory white is Desses' big day-time color. A new color, thistle blue—actually hazy-gray blue green—is strongly sprinkled in the collection, which includes gold and pale yellow, bisque and to bacco tones.

For formal occasions the Greek designer goes in for harem drapes and harem hems, on both long and short dresses. Crossover drapes draw skirts up to the ankle in front on floor-length slinky sheaths.

Yearly Reports Presented At BH General Guild Meet

A General Guild meeting for the Berger Hospital Guilds was held Friday evening at the hospital. The meeting was well attended with all but two of the guilds represented.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. David Fullen, president of the executive board of Berger Hospital Guilds.

Mrs. Victor Rogers presented the secretary's report and Mrs. F. O. Patrick presented the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Henry H. Swope, 1st vice president, announced the formation of two new guilds and introduced their representatives who were present. Mrs. Fullen announced the profit from the annual Bazaar was $1766.85.

Mrs. Rogers read a list of items which had been given the Board by Mr. A. J. Williamson, Berger Hospital Administrator and which had been approved by the hospital Board of Governors.

The guilds voted to purchase a portable X-ray machine, a microscope for the Laboratory, a Bonstad Distilling apparatus, a hydraulic treatment table for the emergency room and a meat slicer for the dietary department. These items totaled an expenditure of $3766.00.

Board members announced the appointment of Mrs. Clark Will as chairman for the Nominating Committee to select a slate of officers for the executive board for 1960-61. Nominations were then taken from the floor and Mrs. Winship Story and Mrs. Kenneth Hannan were elected to complete the nominating committee.

The meeting then adjourned for coffee. Members enjoyed a display of suggestions for bazaar projects. Mrs. Kenneth Luna, Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. Eugene Hanson and Mrs. William Defenbaugh provided the display and discussed their ideas with the group.

For half a dozen hard-boiled eggs to be stuffed, mash the yolks with a quarter cup of mayonnaise-type salad dressing, half a teaspoon of dry mustard and salt and pepper to taste. The sharp tines of a kitchen fork will "flute" the stuffing after it has been piled back into the eggwhites cavities.

Wife Preservers

A bride receiving gifts will be wise to write the number of the gift on the outside of the box as well as on the gift itself. That way, she will be able to find the correct boxes easily for repacking.

You can buy chick peas in cans in many food markets. They're delicious added to vegetable soups made with stock as a base. They won't do much for a cream style vegetable soup!

Gently mix crab with lobster newburg; some of crab will be in shreds. Spoon into scallop shells; cover and refrigerate. At serving time sprinkle with Parmesan and paprika; place in moderate (350 degrees oven) until extremely hot—about 20 minutes. Serve at once or keep hot briefly on electric tray. Makes 6 to 8 servings, depending on size of scallop shells.

'Ring' Style Of Fashions Is Displayed

PARIS (AP)—Clothes that not only fit but cling to the figure were shown by Jean Desses this morning in the sleekest line of the 1960 spring season.

Busts, wafts and hips are prominently visible, in dresses that mould the figure so closely they look poured or painted on. The silhouette is sometimes princess, sometimes sheath.

Desses calls it the "ring" — ring around the bust, ring around the waist, ring around the hips, and sometimes ring around the hem.

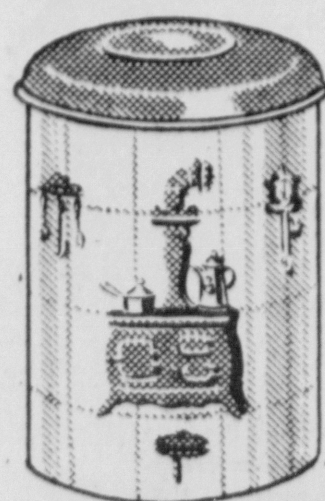

He drops skirts about an inch lower than other houses this season, to still keep them near knee-length.

Even Desses' suit jackets are almost fitted, with a short basque of mushroom pleats or just a hip gripping band seamed on at the waist. Many slim, straight skirts are also mushroom-pleated, and there are wide box pleats on flaring princess skirts.

Ivory white is Desses' big day-time color. A new color, thistle blue—actually hazy-gray blue green—is strongly sprinkled in the collection, which includes gold and pale yellow, bisque and to bacco tones.

Timken Makes New Offer

Steel Union Eyes 40-Cent Package

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Timken Roller Bearing Co. says that it has offered a new contract proposal to the United Steelworkers Union, in which wage and other benefits would increase an average of 40 cents an hour for 9,500 production and maintenance workers.

The union said it would study the proposal and withhold comment until the study was completed. The Canton, Columbus and Wooster plants are involved in the proposal.

The company said its package offer was equal to, or better than, the recent settlement with the big steel companies.

On Jan. 21, 1961, there would be a general wage increase of 7 cents an hour, and on the same date selective wage increases for some classifications which involve 2,300 workers. On Nov. 19, 1961, there would be another general wage increase of 7 cents an hour. Company officials said it is not possible to compile an hourly average to indicate present wage scales.

Timken also offered to freeze the present cost of living factor so that it would not drop under 21 cents an hour. The factor was increased by 4 cents on Jan. 1. On Oct. 1, 1961, there would be a maximum increase of 2 cents an hour, provided that meanwhile the company's insurance costs have not risen.

The proposal also includes increases in sickness and accident insurance and in hospital and surgical benefits. The company would assume the entire cost of life insurance. Pensions would be raised by 10 cents a month per year of service.

Timken proposed that the basic labor agreement run to Aug. 23, 1962, and the pension and insurance program to Feb. 24, 1963. The old labor contract expired last October, but by mutual agreement was extended to Feb. 21.

Church Group Eyes Politico's Religious Ties

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP) — A Protestant church group says the presidency should not be denied any citizen "on grounds of race, religion or ethnic origin." In what it says is the first declaration of its kind, the Council for Christian Social Action of the United Church of Christ said Monday:

"To assume that no Roman Catholic should be president of the United States would amount to a denial of fundamental American principles and would infringe liberties guaranteed by the Constitution."

Conceding that citizens should inquire about a candidate's beliefs — including religion — and affiliations, the resolution added: "Religious affiliation must not automatically qualify or disqualify a citizen for any political office."

"The crucial question is not what influences are brought to bear upon a president but how he responds to them. The interests of all religious and non-religious groups must be taken into account by the president, whatever his personal religious affiliation."

BIRTH CONTROL WORD — E. Finley Carter, director of the Stanford University research institute, tells the Senate foreign relations committee that we must not "close our eyes" to information we have about birth control if the problem of world overpopulation is to be solved.

Pictures of Outlaws Ruled Traffic Hazards

MANILA (AP) — Bandit-ridden Cavite Province decided to post huge "wanted" signs on billboards to help run down its leading badmen. On second thoughts officials decided the blow-up mugs of more than 50 outlaw chieftains leering at motorists would scare off tourists, and they canceled the project.

7 Marines Busted for British Sales

LONDON (AP) — Seven of the U.S. Embassy's 15 Marine guard have been fined, reduced in rank and ordered sent home by a court-martial for selling duty-free cigarettes in Britain.

An embassy spokesman declined Monday night to identify the Marines but said their ranks ranged up to sergeant.

The rank deductions will remain in effect for an "extensive number of years," he added.

The sentences are subject to review by higher military authorities.

The Marines' part in the case was brought out in a London magistrate's court in which a 33-year-old Dutchman, Johannes Lambertus Van Veggel, pleaded guilty to possessing eight bottles of whisky and more than 80,000 cigarettes on which duty had not been paid.

He said he bought some of the cigarettes from embassy Marines. Van Veggel's wife was employed as a telephone operator at the embassy.

The magistrate fined him $688, the amount of the evaded tax.

Russian Small Car To Be Sold in U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is planning to invade the highly competitive U. S. small car market with its Moskvich, a pint-sized automobile for which Russian buyers usually have to wait for months.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported Monday that Robert Castle, an American dealer, has agreed to take 10,000 of the small cars in the next two years. The first delivery of 5,000 and a supply of spare parts would be made this summer.

Castle lives in Herkimer, N.Y., and has dealerships there and in Syracuse.

He owns the Castle Car Co., in Herkimer and the Michael Ivy and Andrea Motors in Syracuse. He recently sold his Ford business to Koerner's of Rochester.

The Moskvich sells in the Soviet Union for 25,000 rubles — $6,250 at the exchange rate but $2,500 at the more realistic tourist rate. Outside the Soviet Union the price has been the equivalent of about $1400.

A previous attempt by the Soviet Union to get into the West German car market was reported to have stalled without the sale of a car.

Turnpike Chieftain Eyes Restaurants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, James W. Shocknessy of Columbus, said today he is "less than happy" with the decision of service place restaurants on the 241-mile superhighway.

"I'm not blaming anybody," Shocknessy said. "But the design is not as satisfactory, as efficient, as we had reason to expect it to be."

There are 16 plazas at eight locations on the turnpike. A representative of the Baltimore, Md., consulting engineering firm of J. E. Greiner Co. said a survey of the possibility of expanding or increasing plazas has been going on since November.

60-Cent Theft Brings One-Year Jail Sentence

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A 31-year-old Negro will spend a year at the country penal farm for a 60-cent burglary.

James L. Griffin was sentenced Monday. He was charged with taking the money from a cafe.

Steady Timber Harvest Possible with Planning

CINCINNATI (AP) — In Boone County, Ky., is the farm of Bruce Ferguson with a sturdy stand of hardwood. For several years now a steady harvest has been taken. The forest now is in better shape than it was before Ferguson began to put established forestry practices into effect.

He's built barns and fences; he's sold post and fire wood; he's marketed cherry, walnut, maple, beech and ash. Judicious cutting encourages tree growth.

All through the tri-state area farmers are beginning to realize that timber can be a productive crop. Even in a section of the Midwest which hasn't been considered timber country for more than 150 years.

Sportsmen too are gradually learning that rehabilitation of forestlands will greatly increase the area of natural habitat so necessary for increased supplies of game birds and animals.

Conservationists know trees reduce surface runoff after heavy rains, thus fighting erosion.

And industries dependent on timber know now—as their predecessors did not—that success depends as much on preserving timber sources as on cutting mature trees.

During 1959 the number of tree farms in Ohio increased by 21 and added 2,000 acres to tree land.

In Indiana—largely as a result of farmer Frank Drumstra's example—the totals are higher: 90 more tree farms and nearly 25,000 acres over the previous year.

Kentucky's progress was about the same as Ohio.

These figures show only the gains made under the tree farm system of the American Forest Products Industries, Inc.

The figures don't reflect the interest of other landowners who on their own are planting trees and taking steps to make their established wood lots and woodland areas more productive.

In these practical times tree farmers have learned that work and effort will pay.

The tri-state area around Cincinnati could support a thousand managed forests similar to the Ferguson tract. There are tens of thousands of acres of unmanaged woodland.

Judge Ponders Lebanon Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Mel G. Underwood today took under advisement the case of a Jehovah's Witnesses sect member who says it would be against his religion to work in a mental hospital under military orders. He is Daniel E. Coffman, 20, of Lebanon.

Monday Judge Underwood gave two young Amishmen 15 days in jail to decide whether they will work at Columbus State Hospital in lieu of military service or go to prison. Jailed pending their decision are Levi L. Hershberger, 23, of near Wooster, and Eli J. Miller, 25, of near Apple Creek.

Timken Makes New Offer

Steel Union Eyes 40-Cent Package

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Timken Roller Bearing Co. says that it has offered a new contract proposal to the United Steelworkers Union, in which wage and other benefits would increase an average of 40 cents an hour for 9,500 production and maintenance workers.

The union said it would study the proposal and withhold comment until the study was completed. The Canton, Columbus and Wooster plants are involved in the proposal.

The company said its package offer was equal to, or better than, the recent settlement with the big steel companies.

On Jan. 21, 1961, there would be a general wage increase of 7 cents an hour, and on the same date selective wage increases for some classifications which involve 2,300 workers. On Nov. 19, 1961, there would be another general wage increase of 7 cents an hour. Company officials said it is not possible to compile an hourly average to indicate present wage scales.

Timken also offered to freeze the present cost of living factor so that it would not drop under 21 cents an hour. The factor was increased by 4 cents on Jan. 1. On Oct. 1, 1961, there would be a maximum increase of 2 cents an hour, provided that meanwhile the company's insurance costs have not risen.

The proposal also includes increases in sickness and accident insurance and in hospital and surgical benefits. The company would assume the entire cost of life insurance. Pensions would be raised by 10 cents a month per year of service.

Timken proposed that the basic labor agreement run to Aug. 23, 1962, and the pension and insurance program to Feb. 24, 1963. The old labor contract expired last October, but by mutual agreement was extended to Feb. 21.

Church Group Eyes Politico's Religious Ties

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP) — A Protestant church agency says the presidency should not be denied any citizen "on grounds of race, religion or ethnic origin."

In what it says is the first declaration of its kind, the Council for Christian Social Action of the United Church of Christ said Monday:

"To assume that no Roman Catholic should be president of the United States would amount to a denial of fundamental American principles and would infringe liberties guaranteed by the Constitution."

Conceding that citizens should inquire about a candidate's beliefs — including religion — and affiliations, the resolution added: "Religious affiliation must not automatically qualify or disqualify a citizen for any political office."

"The crucial question is not what influences are brought to bear upon a president but how he responds to them. The interests of all religious and non-religious groups must be taken into account by the president, whatever his personal religious affiliation."

7 Marines Busted for British Sales

LONDON (AP) — Seven of the U.S. Embassy's 15 Marine guard have been fined, reduced in rank and ordered sent home by a court-martial for selling duty-free cigarettes in Britain.

An embassy spokesman declined Monday night to identify the Marines but said their ranks ranged up to sergeant.

The rank deductions will remain in effect for an "extensive number of years," he added.

The sentences are subject to review by higher military authorities.

The Marines' part in the case was brought out in a London magistrate's court in which a 33-year-old Dutchman, Johannes Lambertus Van Veggel, pleaded guilty to possessing eight bottles of whisky and more than 80,000 cigarettes on which duty had not been paid.

He said he bought some of the cigarettes from embassy Marines. Van Veggel's wife was employed as a telephone operator at the embassy.

The magistrate fined him $686, the amount of the evaded tax.

Negro May Head Presbyterian Unit

NEW YORK (AP) — A Negro minister has been nominated for the highest elective office in the United Presbyterian Church.

The Presbytery of New York Monday nominated the Rev. Adler G. Hawkins for the post of moderator. The Rev. Mr. Hawkins is moderator of the 62 churches in the New York Presbytery.

He will be a candidate at the church's General Assembly May 18 in Cleveland, Ohio. If elected, he would be the first Negro to achieve such eminence in a predominantly white church organization.

The United Presbyterians' three million members live mostly outside the Southern states.

Russian Small Car To Be Sold in U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is planning to invade the highly competitive U. S. small car market with its Moskvich, a pint-sized automobile for which Russian buyers usually have to wait for months.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported Monday that Robert Castle, an American dealer, has agreed to take 10,000 of the small cars in the next two years. The first delivery of 5,000 and a supply of spare parts would be made this summer.

Castle lives in Herkimer, N.Y., and has dealerships there and in Syracuse.

He owns the Castle Car Co., in Herkimer and the Michael Ivy and Andrea Motors in Syracuse. He recently sold his Ford business to Koerner's of Rochester.

The Moskvich sells in the Soviet Union for 25,000 rubles — $6,250 at the exchange rate but $2,500 at the more realistic tourist rate. Outside the Soviet Union the price has been the equivalent of about $1400.

A previous attempt by the Soviet Union to get into the West German car market was reported to have stalled without the sale of a car.

Auburn Hands Georgia Tech Costly Defeat

Ramblers Wrecked In Bid for Southeast Conference Cage Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Auburn has Georgia Tech's number and it may wind up costing the Ramblers' wreck their first Southeastern Conference basketball title in 22 years.

With a 48-45 ball control victory Tuesday night, the Tigers made it six in a row against Tech over a 3-year span, boosted their home court winning streak to 28, and scrambled a SEC race Tech seemed to have nailed when it beat Kentucky for the second time last week.

Auburn now is 12 and 3 and Georgia Tech 16-3.
Bradley's second-ranking Braves padded their winning streak to nine and their overall record to 15-1 with an 83-80 victory at Seattle but tenth-ranked Texas A&M (13-2) and Memphis State (12-3) were beaten in other important Tuesday games.

Santa Clara (14-6) handed the Aggies a 66-55 whipping in the windup of the Texans' two-game California tour, and Tennessee Tech nipped Memphis State 67-65 on Jimmy Hagan's basket at the buzzer.

Miami, of Florida, No. 11 nationally, won its 17th against two losses, 90-79 over Rollins, and Notre Dame (12-6), led by sophomore John Dearie's 20 points, snapped a three-game losing string with a 71-65 decision over Canisius.

New York U., led by Russ Cunningham's 18 points, made it 10-2 and handed Duquesne (4-10) its sixth straight loss, 67-58. Syracuse won its seventh in 10 tries, nipping Connecticut 65-64.

George Washington, rallying behind Dick Markowitz and Jon Feldman, handed Virginia Tech its first Southern Conference defeat, 105-90, enabling idle West Virginia to regain the conference lead. North Carolina State, perking up after a dismal start, made it three straight with an 87-53 Atlantic Coast Conference rout of Virginia as Dan Englehardt scored 24.

Sophomore Dell Ray Mounts' 35 points triggered Texas Tech's 82-79 decision over Arkansas that cost the Razorbacks a chance to tie Texas A&M for the Southwest Conference lead.

Kingston Tops Chillihothe Western, 35-32

Kingston downed Chillihothe Western junior high yesterday afternoon, 35-32, to run its record to 10-4.

The Redskins took a 15-4 first quarter lead, but were held to two points in the second period as Western tallied eight markers and narrow the score to 17-12 at halftime.

Outscored in the third period, 12-9, Kingston held a slim 26-24 third period lead. Kelley led all scorers with 10 points followed by teammate, Vollmar, with nine markers. Schwenlein and Allen were top men for Western with seven points each. Western's record is now 5-7.

7th, 8th Grade Grid Plan OK'd

The Circleville Board of Education last night voted to accept a regulation 7th and 8th grade football program here.

The acceptance climaxed a long campaign by the Circleville Booster Club to initiate tackle football here for 7th and 8th graders. Carl K. Benhase, head grid coach at Circleville High School, appeared before the board last night with the proposal.

Following a short discussion on problems possibly to be encountered, all board members cast votes in favor of the new grid program.

The board was informed that the Booster Club will stand behind the program 100 per cent. Officers and directors of the Boosters already have formed plans to purchase 33 new uniforms for young griders.

According to an early survey, the uniform purchase will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000. The Booster Club has discussed anticipated projects for raising the money.

Paul Sarchet, a teacher here, has drawn the assignment to coach the 7th and 8th graders. He handled junior high flagballers this season, drawing praise from Varsity Coach Benhase for a job well-done. Coaching assistance for the new program probably will come from volunteer help.

Plans call for the program to start here in the 1960 season. The young gridiron stars of the future will practice at the South Court St. Elementary School field, along with the varsity and reserve teams.

A possible problem for the program will be getting candidates to the central practice area once 7th and 8th grade neighborhood units become a part of the planned school system here. It was pointed out that interest and enthusiasm on the part of the young griders probably will be great enough to stall any transportation difficulties.

Board members voiced the opinion that the planned neighborhood unit operations would easily fit in with the new football program.

Amanda Takes Pickaway

Improving Amanda continued to blaze victory trail last night as it defeated invading Pickaway, 72-48.

Roger Gussett, Skip Young and Bill Brown led the way for the Aces with 20, 14 and 17 points respectively. Danny Hicks, the Pirates' slick freshman center, was top man for Pickaway with 17 markers.

The game was never in doubt after Amanda soared to a 21-14 first period lead. It led at half-time, 43-24, and at the end of the third stanza, 59-37.

It was the Pirates' 15th loss against a single win. Amanda now stands 9-6 on the season.

Pickaway won the reserve battle.

Pennant Spirit To Grip Dodgers

By WALTER ALSTON

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Spirit as much as batting power, pitching strength and fielding finesse helped us win the pennant in 1959.

I am not predicting any pennants this year but I am looking for the same kind of spirit.

It was tremendous. I've never had a club which fought back as often as this one did.

We had a very good team last year but it had its weaknesses. There was a lack of hitting power and there was also erratic pitching. However, we were fortunate in coming through with timely singles to score big runs at the right time.

A sound Duke Snider and Carl Furillo could correct some of the power problem. Don Demeter and Chuck Essegian showed signs of becoming good power hitters. I also believe that Johnny Roseboro has not reached his hitting potential.

Our pitching staff should be stronger with added experience for Don Drysdale, Sandy Koufax, Stan Williams, Larry Sherry and Danny McDevitt.

If we have a pitching problem, it may be in finding the strong man in the bullpen.

I look for a comeback by Johnny Klippstein whose ailing back seemed to have corrected itself late in the season. I'm hopeful we can establish five starters before the season gets under way and, with Johnny Podres and Roger Craig in addition to those I mentioned, we should be able to do it.

We have no infield worries. Gil Hodges, Charley Neal, Maury Wills and Junior Gilliam offer first rate defense and a better-than-average punch.

Bobby Lillis, a shortstop, will be back for another chance. Don Zimmer may break into the lineup somewhere.

There will be plenty of competition for outfield spots. We are taking a dozen outfielders south. Besides Snider and Furillo, we'll have Wally Moon, who did a great job last year; Demeter, Essegian, Rip Repulski, Sandy Amoros, Norm Larker and kids like Ron Fairly, Tommy Davis, Al Morris, Earl Robinson, Don Miles and Frank Howard.

Once again, it looks like the Giants and Dodgers will be the teams to beat in 1960.

Next—Bob Elliott, Kansas City.

Jeffersonville Drops Atlanta

Atlanta dropped a cliffhanger last night to invading Jeffersonville, 59-58, in a game of tension and close play throughout.

The Red Raiders had a chance to go ahead in the final 30 seconds from the foul line but couldn't capitalize. Jeffersonville built up a 27-21 first half lead that Atlanta was unable to overcome.

The Red Raiders' Ronnie Morris led all scorers with 24 points, followed by Jeffersonville's Burns with 23. Only three men tallied for the Fayette County team as Smith hit for 21 and Juillerat connected for 15.

The Raiders hit 33 per cent from the field although missing seven straight field goal attempts in the initial stanza.

Atlanta now stands 6-11 on the season. The Red Raider junior varsity salvaged half the card with a 28-24 victory, its sixth against nine defeats.

Why Can't Johnny Read?

• Vitamins

Q. Our 7-year-old son has been very slow in learning to read. Does this mean that he is mentally below par?

A. No. Slow reading is not necessarily an indication of retarded intelligence. In fact, many children with reading difficulties have superior intelligence. At age 6, when most children enter the first grade, many are just not ready to read. In our educational system, where all children must conform to a set pattern, "reading readiness" is very much in the picture. The unready child rapidly develops feelings of inferiority. Soon emotional factors set in and something that should be simple becomes very hard. To discover the cause of reading difficulties requires professional services. The child should first have tests to establish the level of intelligence. The next step may be an eye examination to see if glasses are needed. The hearing should be checked. If everything is in order the child may be given special training in word recognition and phonetics. Parents faced with this problem can get some good tips from certain books, a list of which will be sent to interested readers upon request.

Q. Please advise me in your column if it is necessary for a man of 65 to take vitamin tablets. Someone told me vitamin tablets were poisonous. Is this true?

A. Let's try to put some light on this subject. Vitamins are essential food factors. If vitamins were poisonous we would all be gone by now because we consume — and need — vitamins three times a day. All food factors necessary to health are supplied by an adequate diet. There are times, however, when the vitamin intake needs a boost. For example, the need for taking a vitamin product may arise during periods of illness or at any time when a person gets "off his feed." It is true that the taking of very large doses of certain vitamins, such as A and D, over a long period of time may cause trouble. However, the use of multiple vitamin preparations of moderate potency and in the recommended dosage is not at all likely to cause poisoning.

Note: The next time you are in our store raise the question of vitamins. We will be glad to discuss this subject in detail.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Auburn Hands Georgia Tech Costly Defeat

Ramblers Wrecked In Bid for Southeast Conference Cage Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Auburn has Georgia Tech's number and it may wind up costing the Ramblers' wreck their first Southeastern Conference basketball title in 22 years.

With a 48-45 ball court victory Tuesday night, the Tigers made it six in a row against Tech over a 3-year span, boosted their home court winning streak to 28, and scrambled a SEC race Tech seemed to have nailed when it beat Kentucky for the second time last week.

Auburn beat Georgia Tech Jan. 19 in a game that didn't count in the SEC standings. Now Tech is the leader with a 7-1 record followed by Kentucky at 6-2, Auburn and Mississippi at 5-2, and Tulane at 4-2. Tech, sixth-rated nationally, has six conference games remaining in its bid for its first SEC championship since 1938.

Auburn now is 12 and 3 and Georgia Tech 16-3.

Bradley's second-ranking Braves padded their winning streak to nine and their overall record to 15-1 with an 83-80 victory at Seattle but tenth-ranked Texas A&M (13-2) and Memphis State (12-3) were beaten in other important Tuesday games.

Santa Clara (14-6) handed the Aggies a 66-55 whipping in the windup of the Texans' two-game California tour, and Tennessee Tech nipped Memphis State 67-65 on Jimmy Hagan's basket at the buzzer.

Miami, of Florida, No. 11 nationally, won its 17th against two losses, 90-79 over Rollins, and Notre Dame (12-6), led by sophomore John Dearnie's 20 points, snapped a three-game losing string with a 71-65 decision over Canisius.

New York U., led by Russ Cunningham's 18 points, made it 10-2 and handed Duquesne (4-10) its sixth straight loss, 67-58. Syracuse won its seventh in 10 tries, nipping Connecticut 65-64.

George Washington, rallying behind Dick Markowitz and Jon Feldman, handed Virginia Tech its first Southern Conference defeat, 105-90, enabling idle West Virginia to regain the conference lead. North Carolina State, perking up after a dismal start, made it three straight with an 87-53 Atlantic Coast Conference rout of Virginia as Dan Englehardt scored 24.

Sophomore Dell Ray Mounts' 35 points triggered Texas Tech's 82-79 decision over Arkansas that cost the Razorbacks a chance to tie Texas A&M for the Southwest Conference lead.

Kingston dined on a 15-4 first quarter lead, but were held to two points in the second period as Western tallied eight markers and narrow the score to 17-12 at halftime.

Outscored in the third period, 12-9, Kingston held a slim 26-24 third period lead. Kelley led all scorers with 10 points followed by teammate, Vollmar, with nine markers. Schwenlein and Allen were top men for Western with seven points each. Western's record is now 5-7.

7th, 8th Grade Grid Plan OK'd

The Circleville Board of Education last night voted to accept a regulation 7th and 8th grade football program here.

The acceptance climaxed a long campaign by the Circleville Booster Club to initiate tackle football here for 7th and 8th graders. Carl K. Benhase, head grid coach at Circleville High School, appeared before the board last night with the proposal.

Following a short discussion on problems possibly to be encountered, all board members cast votes in favor of the new grid program.

The board was informed that the Booster Club will stand behind the program 100 per cent. Officers and directors of the Boosters already have formed plans to purchase 33 new uniforms for young griders.

According to an early survey, the uniform purchase will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000. The Booster Club has discussed anticipated projects for raising the money.

Paul Sarchet, a teacher here, has drawn the assignment to coach the 7th and 8th graders. He handled junior high flag football this season, drawing praise from Varsity Coach Benhase for a job well-done. Coaching assistance for the new program probably will come from volunteer help.

Plans call for the program to start here in the 1960 season. The young gridiron stars of the future will practice at the South Court St. Elementary School field, along with the varsity and reserve teams.

A possible problem for the program will be getting candidates to the central practice area once 7th and 8th grade neighborhood units become a part of the planned school system here. It was pointed out that interest and enthusiasm on the part of the young griders probably will be great enough to stall any transportation difficulties.

Board members voted the opinion that the planned neighborhood unit operations would easily fit in with the new football program.

Amanda Takes Pickaway

Improving Amanda continued to blaze victory trail last night as it defeated invading Pickaway, 72-48.

Roger Gussett, Skip Young and Bill Brown led the way for the Aces with 20, 14 and 17 points respectively. Danny Hicks, the Pirates' slick freshman center, was top man for Pickaway with 17 markers.

The game was never in doubt after Amanda soared to a 21-14 first period lead. It led at halftime, 43-24, and at the end of the third stanza, 59-37.

It was the Pirates' 15th loss against a single win. Amanda now stands 9-6 on the season.

Sugar, Fullmer Rated High in Middle Ranks

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson and Gene Fullmer were ranked as co-holders of the No. 1 challenger's position to Champion Paul Pender in the latest middle-weight ratings of Ring Magazine, which also demoted ex-champion Floyd Patterson to No. 2 contender in the heavyweight class.

Ring recognized Pender as the new champion for his victory over Robinson in Boston and also honored the Brookline, Mass., boxer as "Fighter of the Month" for January.

For the first time since it paired Zora Folley and Eddie Machen as top contenders for the heavy-weight crown two years ago, the magazine came up with a tie between challengers, Robinson, the 39-year-old ex-pahm, and Fullmer, the National Boxing Assn. champion from West Jordan, Utah, were given equal billing.

Patterson, still waiting for a return shot at Ingemar Johansson for the world heavy crown, was spotted No. 2 behind Zora Folley who defeated Eddie Machen recently.

Henry Hank of Detroit moved into the No. 4 position in the middleweight class by stopping Jesse Bowdry.

Benny Paret of Cuba took over the No. 4 spot in the welter class on the strength of his second victory over Charlie Scott.

John Carroll Still Lossless In Ohio Cage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was two extremes Tuesday night in Ohio college basketball as John Carroll remained unbeaten in the Presidents' Conference and Cedarville stayed winless in the Mid-Ohio League.

In a Mid-American Conference thriller, Marshall exploded in the final two minutes to rip Bowling Green 85-75.

The BeeGees led 72-66 with less than eight minutes to go when their scoring ace Jim Darrow collided with Marshall's Charlie Moore and, shaken up, had to leave the game briefly. Darrow, the MAC's leading scorer, notched 26 points but the loop's No. 2 point-maker, John Milhoan, got 35 for Marshall.

The game was spiced with a weird play in which Rex Leach of Bowling Green tried a 70-foot pass to Jim Routson, but it missed—and swished through the hoop for two B-G points.

Marshall is 4-4 in the conference, the Falcons 3-3.

John Carroll dumped Bethany (W. Va.) 90-83, making it 5-0 for the Blue Streaks in the PAC.

Bluffton made it 0-7 for Cedarville in the Mid-Ohio as the Beavers downed the Cedars 72-56.

In other games, Hiram (6-6) hit for eight points in the final minutes to edge Penn (0-12), 73-66. With stalling tactics, Westminster (Pa.) held an edge to clip Baldwin-Wallace 58-51. Indiana Central overcame an 8-point deficit to trip Central State 89-83.

Nixon Slated To Offer His Own Ag Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is quietly getting ready to draft his own farm program for his expected campaign as the Republican presidential nominee.

President Eisenhower plans to send to Congress this week a wide-ranging program constructed on the recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

While Nixon was consulted on broad policies, he had almost no hand in refining these proposals. However, he is certain to support them in line with his established policy of publicly backing all of the administration's suggestions to Congress.

Nixon is well aware that Democrats intend to make a major issue in the election campaign of crop surpluses, declining prices and dwindling farm income. Democrats who now blame all of these on Benson's policies suspect the new program will be considerably less than satisfactory to them.

Anticipating a battle in Congress, Nixon is preparing to draft some proposals of his own. He will air them in later speeches, possibly before the Republican convention platform committee goes into action.

Bomb Threat Is Made to Negro Cleric

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bomb threats led police to search the car, church and home of a Negro minister here late Tuesday, but they found nothing.

Officers said the action came after an anonymous caller to the FBI office here said a bomb would be put in the car of the Rev. C. E. Armstrong, pastor of Inspirational Baptist Church.

The action was linked to the shooting death of two Negro brothers next door to the church last Wednesday. A patrolman shot them after he and his partner were knocked down and injured in a fight with the two while trying to make an arrest.

The Rev. Mr. Armstrong said Tuesday he also received two telephone threats about bombs in his car and about 80 other anonymous calls on the matter.

Funeral services were held Monday for the brothers, Charles Brady, 21, and Virgil, 18.

The minister had arranged with the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People an open meeting at his church last Saturday to study the Brady case.

New Federal Bill May Aid Collection of City Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to streamline the collection of municipal income taxes from federal employees is given a good chance to become law by Rep. Gordon H. Scherer (R-Ohio).

Another thing the bill would do, he said, is catch those federal employees who have dodged these taxes altogether. In Cincinnati, where Scherer resides, the city had to bring suit to collect from some employees.

On the other hand, he said some federal employees unions are supporting the legislation as making it simpler to pay the taxes.

The bill—approved Monday by the House Rules Committee—may come up in a day or so on the House floor.

It should pass there and, later, in the Senate, Scherer said. The bill would permit the federal government to withhold local taxes from the paychecks of federal employees.

Federal employees in the following Ohio cities are affected by this legislation: Canton, Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, Springfield, Toledo, Youngstown.

Another Ohio Republican, Rep. Samuel Devine, differed with Scherer's view on the legislation. Devine's home, Columbus, is affected by the legislation but he said he opposes it anyway.

"I'm opposed generally to withholding taxes," Devine told a reporter. "People look at their take-home pay. They don't at all the taxes the federal government gets."

"I admit the withholding tax is the most practical way of collecting a tax. But I think in hoodwinks the public."

"Will the bill pass? Yes I think it will."

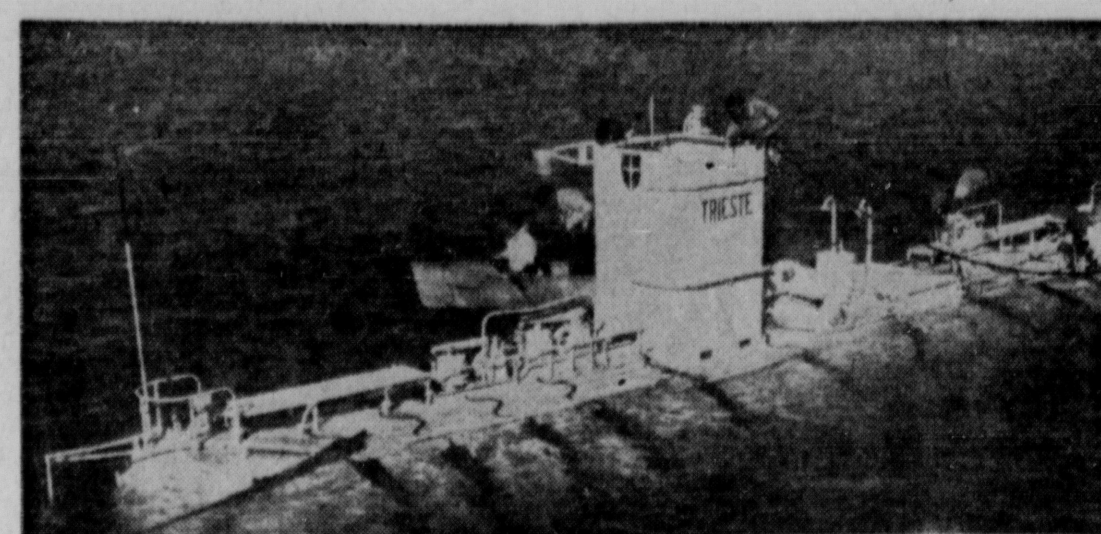

Record Peacetime Budget Due in Britain

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative government will ask Parliament to approve Britain's biggest peacetime defense budget to improve the nation's conventional arms without sacrificing its nuclear arsenal.

The proposed budget to be presented in the House of Commons later this month, would boost Britain's defense bill by 120 to 150 million pounds — 336 to 420 million dollars — and bring it to about $4,564,000,000.
